YESTERDAY'S BATTLE.

The elections yesterday represented a large amount of suppressed excitement on the part of the people, and a reaction against Republican candidates. It is useless to point out local reasons for a general result, as what is seen at one point only represents a general fact. Allegheny county only typifies on a small scale what is observable over the entire country. There are no local reasons which will apply in the case of Dix in New York, and we can only attribute the result to one of those spasms of reactionary feeling, such as rolled over the country during the second year of Lincoln's term. It did not then, as it will not now, represent a permanent dissatisfaction with the Republican party; but was simply the feeling of hostility to a condition of things which could and ought to be corrected. Then, the war prospects were gloomy; now, the business outlook causes the people to feel unhappy. The effects of the panic are still on the country, and no explanations or arguments will serve to do away with the stubborn fact that times are not prosperous. In France, when such things occur, the people rise up and overturn the Government. In England, they hold indignation meetings, and adopt fault-finding resolutions. Here, they vote the party out of power, when, for any reason, any hard feeling or misfortune arises. But as, in the second year of the war, the Democrats carried the country, and elected Seymour Governor of New York, only to fall into the minority again in two years, so now they are successful, but not, as we think, to remain permanently in power.

There have been, we admit, a variety of agitations that have served to disquiet the people. The old love for Republican principles remains, but scandals have arisen, until the people are tried. The results of yesterday's vote means that the party must be so far freed of its dead timber that it shall meet the demands of the hour, by rising to the level of purity demanded by the people. Unless this is promptly done, and particularly, unless the industries of the country are revived, the results of future elections will only intensify what was done yesterday. It is perfectly easy to know what is necessary to be done,—will those who have the power and do it?

Coming down to affairs at home, General Negley, we regret to say, is defeated. The vote is very close, but with the figures at hand at two o'clock, we judge him to be 500 behind Hopkins. Bayne is probably elected, but by a majority that is exceedingly close. Humphreys, is clearly beaten and we judge the Democrats have seven of the fourteen members of the House. We estimate that Jeremy, Onslow, Morrison, Larimer, Archibold and McCord are defeated. The third City District is, of course, Democratic. We hear little that is definite from Newmeyer's district, but we judge him to be elected. It is a close matter, at best, and we are not entirely sanguine as to the result. In other parts of the State, matters wear a more favorable aspect. Harrisburg went Republican by a majority ef about 300, while Philadelphia rolls up a majority of not less than 10,000. We judge the several Legislative and Congressional candidates whose election could reasonably be expected, have received good majorities. The State ticket is evidently safe, although it has not many votes to spare. It is impossible, with the meagre figures at command, to estimate the result, as regards either the Legislature or Congress. That the Democrats have made gains is palpable; but just how large these will be remains to be seen. It is but frank to say that the outlook is that the Democrats have both Legislature and Congress.

In the South and West, the Democracy are, of course, successful. Yet in Louisiana there are favorable returns, as compared with those of the preceding day. It is now conceded that Louisiana is Republican on its State ticket by about 10,000 majority. In the various other Western and Southern States, the Democrats are generally successful. At the East, Governor Dix is defeated in New York, and Gaston, Democrat, is elected Governor of Massachusetts. Ben. Butler is defeated in the Essex District, while Banks is elected as an Independent in his district. Several Republicans, including Ayer, the pill man, are defeated. Thus the tide is against us this year of grace, 1874.

In Philadelphia Mann has been defeated for the position of District Attorney. The Republican ticket in the State is elected by about 10,000 majority, which is so much saved from the general wreck.

LATEST.

THE LOCAL RESULT.

The latest results we are able to gather lead us to put the following estimate on the result, as regards Congress and the Legislature in this county:

Negley is defeated by a majority that ranges at about 1,600.

Bayne, on the North Side, is quite certainly elected, although we cannot approximate the majority.

In the Senatorial Districts, we concede the defeat of Humphreys, but claim the election of Newmyer and McNeill.

Of the fourteen members of the Legislature, we concede to the Democrats, Irwin, Shidle, Patterson, Carson, Thornton, Hays, Rogers, Large, Zern and Swan. We claim Christy, Sample, Gerwig and Graham.

Not a very satisfactory result,—but what the figures lead us to think will be the result.

CONGRESS.

If the report that comes from New York is correct, that two-thirds of the members of Congress elected in that State are Democrats, it follows as an inevitable result that they have a majority in the House, and will therefore control that body at its next session. We have not sufficient intelligence from the interior of this State to compute results, but we entertain no doubt as to the result we indicate above. Added to this, it is claimed that New York has elected Tilden by 40,000 majority.

In New Jersey Bedle is elected Governor by about 5,000 majority, and gains have been made in the Congressional delegation. Ward is defeated for Congress in the Newark district, and we judge four out of the seven Congressional districts in that State will be Democratic. These are not agreeable admissions to make, but it is as well to make them first as last. If the result is not such as to lead many who voted for the Democracy to bitterly regret the fact, we greatly err in our judgment.

THERE were special, and easily explained causes for the defeat of several of the Republican legislative candidates, who really deserved election. We greatly err if there is not a feeling of profound regret, yet, that certain persons have been elected to the Legislature.

WE have not the majority against Senator Humphreys,—but it is not large. He was cried down for deeds performed at the instance of his constituents. We will now see how much better his competitor will do.

THE majority against Negley will not vary much from 500,—and represents a closely contested effort. We regret his defeat.

IN THE First Legislative District of this city, Jeremy and Onslow were defeated by over 800 votes,—a very serious matter in a district so small.

Williams, Republican, is elected from the Seventeenth District by 3,000 majority. Whitehouse, Liberal Republican, is elected to Congress from the Thirteenth District by 2,000 majority.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Walker, Democrat, is elected to Congress from the Twenty-ninth District. The Democrats estimate Tilden's majority in the State at fully 40,000. Beebe, Democrat, is probably elected to Congress from the Fourteenth District by 1,000 majority.

The Democrats carry two-thirds of the Congressmen from this State, and have twenty majority in the Assembly. 478 districts outside of this city show a net Democratic gain over last year's vote of 9,347. There are about 2,000 districts outside the city.

Samuel S. Cox, Democrat, is elected in the Sixth District by probably an increased majority. The Republicans claim the election of Townsend in the Seventeenth District by a small majority.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Wead, Democrat, is elected to Congress from the Fifth District.

MASSACHUSETTS.

WORCESTER, Mass., November 3.—Worcester gives Gaston, Democrat, for Governor, 4,010, and Talbot, Republican, 3,576.

BOSTON, November 3.—Banks' majority is estimated by his friends now at fully 5,000 in the Fifth District over Gooch, who had a majority in 1872 of 4,459. Sixty-three towns give Talbot 15,442 and Gaston 14,080. Last year the vote in these towns was: Washburn, 12,578; Gaston, 7,353.

BOSTON, November 3.—Henry L. Pierce, Republican, is elected in the Third District by a majority of 1,742, with his own ward to hear from. The Congressional situation is summed up to this hour (8 P. M.) as follows by the Republicans: Chapin, Democrat, Eleventh District, elected by a large majority; Ayer, Republican, Seventh District, doubtful; Williams, Republican, Eighth District, doubtful; Hoar, Republican, Ninth District, elected; Frost, Republican, Fourth District, doubtful; Banks, Independent, Fifth District, elected by a large majority; B. W. Harris, Republican, Second District, and J. Buffinton, Republican, First District, elected beyond a doubt.

The Democrats already claim the State for Gaston, and the Republicans are waiting for further returns.

BOSTON, MASS., November 3.—Ninety-nine towns without Boston give Talbot 24,519 and Gaston 21,093. The same towns last year gave Washburn 19,184 and Gaston 10,818. The majorities against Butler still roll in. At Salem he was nearly 1,000 behind the ticket, and his defeat is overwhelming. In the Seventh and Eighth Congressional Districts, as near as can be figured out, Williams and Ayer are both about 1,000 behind.

At this hour the streets are full of jubilant Democrats, who persist in the belief that Gaston is elected. The excitement is greater than has been known for years.

BOSTON, November 3.—The Traveller (Republican) concedes the State to Gaston.

The Journal gives the vote of 158 towns. Talbot, 43,668; Gaston, 40,348, with Boston not included, and concedes 6,000 majority to Gaston in this city. It says unless back towns come up nobly before morning, the result will be the election of Gaston and the defeat of all Republican candidates for Congress, except H. L. Pierce, B. W. Harris and James Buffinton.

The Herald says Ayer is undoubtedly defeated by Tarbox. The Republicans elected thirty-six State Representatives and two Senators, and the Democrats fourteen Representatives and three Senators.

BOSTON, November 3.—Gaston's election is conceded on all sides, with a probable majority of from 5,000 to 8,000. Frost's election in the Fourth District is claimed, but it will be very close. Butler is badly beaten, Thompson having a majority of 1,051, with only one small town to hear from. Banks has made a clear sweep in the Fifth District, Gooch not carrying a single town, except his own. Williams and Alexander are defeated by small majorities. Ayer is defeated in the Seventh District.

Later returns do not change the results foreshadowed in earlier reports.

BOSTON, November 3.—Geo. F. Hoar carries the Ninth Congressional District by 377 majority. Two towns to hear from will not alter the result.

BOSTON, MASS., November 3.—Full returns will be very late. Gaston's majority will be at least 3,000.

In the Congressional districts the following may be accepted as positive: In the First District, Buffinton, Republican, is elected by a large majority. In the Second District, Harris, Republican, is elected by a small majority. In the Third District, Pierce, Republican, is elected by a reduced majority. In the Fourth District the vote is very close, Frost, Republican, securing an election by 30 majority. In the Fifth District, Banks, Independent, has 5,000 majority. In the Sixth District, Thompson, Democrat, beat Butler by at least 1,500. In the Seventh District, Tarbox, Democrat, is elected by from 1,000 to 1,500 majority. In the Eighth District, Warren, Democrat, is elected by a large majority. In the Ninth District, Howe, Republican, is elected by 377 majority. In the Tenth District, Seely, Independent, is elected over Stevens, Republican, by 940 majority. In the Eleventh District, Chapin, Democrat, is elected over Alexander, Republican.

The House will be Republican, in favor of license. The Senate will be about equally divided.

ILLINOIS.

CAIRO, November 3.—Cairo gives a Democratic majority of about 200 on the State and Congressional ticket, a Democratic gain of 300.

CHICAGO, November 3.—Returns from the city and county indicate the election of the Democratic county ticket by six or seven thousand majority; that Ward, in the Second, and Farwell, in the Third, both Republicans, are re-elected by small majorities, and Canfield, Democrat, in the First, is elected by a fair majority. Returns from the State at large are very meagre, but indicate that much scratching was done. In some towns and counties there are reported full Republican majorities, and in others considerable Democratic gains. Shelby county reports five hundred majority for Etter, Democrat and Independent, for Superintendent of Schools. Wilkins, Independent, for Congress, will probably carry the county against Eden, Democrat. Scott county reports Springer, Democrat, for Congress, majority 300. Rockford, Winnebago county, with one precinct to hear from, gives Hurlbut, Straight Republican, for Congress, 268 majority.

CARBONDALE, ILL., November 3.—A few meagre returns indicate the election of Clements, Republican.

CHICAGO, Ills., November 3.—Returns from Lake county so far as received give the opposition State ticket 79 majority. Perry county, Duquoin and Pinckneyville, give the Republican State Treasurer 50, and Clements, Republican, for Congress, 24 majority.

PEORIA, Ill., November 3.—Whiting, Republican, for Congress in the Ninth District, has from 800 to 1,000 majority in this city, a large Republican gain.

CHICAGO, ILL., November 3.—Returns from the City of Chicago and county of Cook are still incomplete. Enough is known to insure the election of the entire opposition county ticket by a majority of probably 5,000. But the Republicans, it is conceded, re-elect Farwell in the Third, Ward in the Second, and probably elect Smith in the First Congressional Districts. Returns from the State to midnight indicate the following result on Congressmen: Fourth District, Hurlbut, Republican, re-elected; Fifth, Burchard, Republican, re-elected; Sixth, Henderson, Republican elected; Seventh, Campbell, Democrat, elected probably; Eighth, Fort, Republican, re-elected; Ninth, Whiting, Republican, elected; Tenth, Bagley, Democrat, elected; Eleventh, Wike, Democrat, elected; Twelfth, Springer, Democrat, probably elected; Thirteenth, close, with the chances in favor of Stevenson; Fifteenth, Eden, Democrat, re-elected; Sixteenth, Sparks, Democrat, probably elected; Seventeenth, Morrison, Democrat, re-elected; Eighteenth, Hartzell, Democrat, elected; Nineteenth, Anderson, Independent, elected probably. The Republican State ticket is undoubtedly elected, but it is impossible to say by what majority.

NEW JERSEY.

NEW YORK, November 3.—The New Jersey returns are compared for gains with the gubernatorial election in 1871, when Packer, Democrat, was elected by 5,979 majority, while at the same election the majority on Republican Congressmen was 3,420, and a Republican Legislature was elected.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., November 3.—The Democrats carry Mercer county by 200, and Somerset county by about the same majority, for Governor and Congressmen. Middlesex county is Democrat by a large majority. Passaic county shows a Democratic gain of 805 on Governor. The Democrats have carried Newark and Essex counties by a small majority. In the Sixth Congressional District F. H. Teese, Democrat, is elected over M. L. Ward. In Hudson county Judge Bedle, for Governor, has a majority of about 3,000. A. A. Hardenburg is elected to Congress from the Seventh District by a large majority. Passaic county complete gives Halsey, Republican, for Governor, 14 majority, a Democratic gain of 105. Middlesex county has gone Democratic by a large majority.

JERSEY CITY, November 3.—Teese, Democrat, for Congress, defeats Marcus L. Ward by 208 majority. Bedle, Democrat, is no doubt elected Governor by 8,000 majority.

JERSEY CITY, November 3.—For Congress, Marcus L. Ward and J. W. Scudder are defeated, and probably W. Walter Phelps and Amos Clark, Jr. All Republicans. It looks as if the New Jersey Congressional delegation would stand four Democrats to three Republican. The State Senate remains the same, but the House is overwhelmingly Democratic.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, November 3.—The returns this morning indicate 13,000 Conservative majority in the city. Gibson, in the First District, and Ellis, in the Second Congressional District, each go out of the city with over 6,000 majority, and their election is regarded as certain by the Conservatives. They also claim the election of Levy, in the Fourth, Spencer, in the Fifth, and Moore, in the Sixth Congressional Districts, and conceding the election of Darrell in the Third District.

Additional returns are favorable to the Conservatives. The indications are that they elect five Congressmen and the State Treasurer. The Democrats now claim the election of sixty-eight members of the Legislature, fifty-five being a majority.

SHREVEPORT, November 3.—Nearly complete returns from all the boxes in this parish, Caddo, show a Democratic majority of 600. The registered colored majority in this parish is 1,276, showing that there was a heavy colored vote for the Conservatives. Three Democrats were elected to the Legislature. Levy is elected to Congress from this district, beyond a doubt.

NEW ORLEANS, November 3.—The election law requires the commissioners and supervisors to sign a statement of the vote and tally sheets before six o'clock on the day following the election. An extra Bulletin states that many of the Republican election officials have absented themselves without complying with this provision of law, and though they had been searched for, could not be found.

TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, November 3.—The election to-day was unusually quiet, with a considerable falling off from the August vote. The Democrats claim a majority of 2,000 in the city, and the election of Col. Casey Young to Congress by 1,500 majority, his competitor, Hon. Barbour Lewis, having carried the district in 1872 by 3,600 majority. His defeat to-day is attributed to the Civil Rights bill and the well known conservatism of Col. Young, many Republicans, both white and black, having voted and worked for the latter.

MEMPHIS, November 3.—Later returns from this Congressional District indicate that Col. Young's Democratic majority will reach 3,500. Telegrams to the Appeal and Avalanche show that Caldwell, Democrat, is elected over Menn in the Ninth District, and Whitthorne, Democrat, in the Sixth, by 5,000 majority.

NASHVILLE, November 3.—The election passed off quietly. The vote was very light—at least one-fourth less throughout the State than in the August election. The State has gone Democratic by from 25,000 to 30,000 majority, and all the Congressional delegation, except the First and Second Districts, which are doubtful. Both Houses of the Legislature are largely Democratic. The entire Conservative ticket in Davidson county is elected by from 1,000 to 1,500 majority.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, November 3.—Returns indicate that the Republicans have elected Williams in the First Congressional District, Caswell in the Second, Magoon in the Third, Rucke in the Seventh, and McDill in the Eighth. The Democrats elect Hynde in the Fourth, Burchard in the Fifth, and the Sixth is close and doubtful, with the chances in favor of Kimball, Republican. There is a strong probability that the Republicans will have a majority on a joint ballot of the Legislature, thus securing a Republican Senator to succeed Carpenter. There is but little doubt that the Republicans will have a majority in the State at large.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., November 3.—The Legislature is very close, but the Republicans will probably have a small majority on joint ballot. The Senate is probably Democratic by two majority. The Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee claims a majority in the Legislature and the election of six out of eight Congressmen, which will preserve the complexion of the delegation in the present Congress. The Democrats, however, do not concede the Sixth District, which is very close. In this county the Republicans elect five members of the Legislature, which is a gain.

VIRGINIA.

RICHMOMD, VA., November 3.—This city gives Walker, Conservative, for Congress, 1,848 majority.

RICHMOND, Va., November 3.—Returns thus far from the Congressional Districts indicate that Walker, Conservative, in the Third; Tucker, Conservative, in the Sixth; Harris, Conservative, in the Seventh; Hunter, Conservative, in the Eighth; and Tarry, Conservative, in the Ninth, are undoubtedly elected. Walker's majority in the Third District will run over 2,500. Hunter's majority in the Eighth over Barbour, Independent, will reach about 2,000. It is more than probable that Sener, Republican, is re-elected over Douglass in the First District. The Second District is doubtful, with the probabilities in favor of John Goode, Jr., Conservative, over Platt, Republican, the present incumbent, and Norton (colored), Independent. W. H. H. Stowell is re-elected in the Fourth District. In the Fifth District the contest is close, but favorable to the re-election of C. Y. Thomas.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., November 3.—The contest for Congress is close. It is supposed that Hunton, Conservative, is elected over Barbour, Independent. The contest in the Fredericksburg District is close. Both sides are claiming the election.

GEORGIA.

AUGUSTA, GA., November 3.—Alexander H. Stephens, for Congress, was elected almost without opposition.

SAVANNAH, November 3.—Julian Hartridge, Democrat, for Congress, has 3,000 majority.

AUGUSTA, GA., November 3.—Candler, Democrat, in the Fifth, and McMillan, in the Ninth Districts, are elected to Congress by large majorities.

AUGUSTA, GA., November 3.—Blount, Democrat, is elected to Congress from the Sixth District; Cook, Democrat, from the Third; Felton, Independent Democrat, from the Seventh—each by a decided majority. The Republican candidate for Congress in the Fifth District says he will contest Candler's seat.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., November 3.—Dibrill, Democrat, for Congress, is elected in the Third District by from 3,000 to 4,000 majority.

AUGUSTA, Ga., November 3.—In summing up the returns from all portions of Georgia, so far as received, there appears to be no doubt that the election will give an undivided Democratic delegation.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, MICH., November 3.—Democratic gains throughout the State are immense. The Republicans do not claim over 5,000 majority on the State ticket. Williams, Democrat, for Congress in the First District, will have over one thousand majority. The Second District is claimed for Waldron, Republican, by 300 majority. The Third District is claimed for Willard, Republican, by 1,500 majority. Potter's majority in the Fourth District is estimated at 1,200. In the Fifth District, Williams, Republican, as far as heard from, has about one thousand majority. The Sixth District returns so far give Denard, Democrat, over four hundred. In the Seventh District, Conger, Republican, is re-elected by probably 1,600 majority. The Eighth District is claimed for Hadley, Republican, by 1,200 majority.

ARKANSAS.

LITTLE ROCK, November 3.—The election to-day passed off without disturbance. A full vote was polled. The Democrats carry the First and, it is thought, the Fourth wards, and the Republicans the Second and Third. The vote in the city is close between Wilshire, Democrat, and Hynes, Republican, for Congress. The chances are that Hynes carries Pulaski county.

The advices from Saline are that every vote cast at Belton, the county seat, was for Wilshire. In Baulkner, Wilshire runs largely ahead. The Democrats claim his election by a considerable majority.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., November 3.—Full returns from the city show a majority of nineteen for Judge Wilshire, the Democratic candidate for Congress. The Democrats elect three out of five Aldermen.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, November 3.—An unusually heavy vote has been polled throughout the State. Returns show considerable Democratic gains. The new Constitution is overwhelmingly defeated. The woman suffrage amendment is also defeated, but it seems to have received a larger vote than was generally expected. The indications are that Williams, Democrat, to Congress in the First district, is elected; Pott, Democrat, in the Fourth; Durand, Democrat, in the Sixth; Waldron, Republican, in the Second; Conger, Republican, in the Seventh; Hubbell, Republican, in the Ninth. The Fifth district is claimed for Williams, Republican, but is considered doubtful.

MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, November 3.—Scattering returns from all parts of the State are received, but nothing definite. There is every probability that all three Republican Congressmen are elected by reduced majorities, and the Supreme Judges in the Third district. King, Republican, for Congress, has 366 majority in forty-two towns.

In this city the Democrats made pretty nearly a clean sweep in the lower wards, which are generally Republican. Horace Thompson, Republican, for Legislature, is defeated by F. R. Delano, Democrat. The Democrats carried the city of Winona by an average majority of 209.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, November 3.—The election here passed off quietly, and an unusually large vote was polled, but owing to the length of the ticket, which includes State, County, Congressional and Legislative, it will be very late before the returns can be obtained. At this writing (11 o'clock) not one precinct of the city has been heard from.

Advices from the State are too meagre to indicate the result in any section. Cole county reported 400 Democratic majority. Lawrence county is claimed for the Democrats. Johnson county reported 300 Democratic majority. Franklin county reported from 200 to 300 for the People's ticket.

KENTUCKY.

LEXINGTON, KY., November 3.—The election passed off very quietly, with a small vote polled. Blackburn, Democrat, for Congress, has 211 majority in the city. The Republican majority in August was 665.

LOUISVILLE, KY., November 3.—The election in this city was the quietest ever known, and only about one-fourth of the vote was polled. E. Y. Parsons, the Democratic nominee, has about 3,000 majority over Gray and Wood, Independent Democrats. There was no Republican candidate.

LOUISVILLE, November 3.—Returns come in slowly from the State, but dispatches to the Courier-Journal show Democratic gains all through Kentucky. It is probable that the Democrats have made a clean sweep, electing all of the ten Congressmen.

ALABAMA.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 3.—In this city the Democrats claim 800 gain.

MOBILE, November 3.—The city and county of Mobile have gone Democratic by about 1,200 majority. Two riots were caused by negroes attempting to rescue repeaters from United States Marshals. The riots were easily suppressed. Two negroes were killed and one white man wounded.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., November 3.—Enough returns have been received to assure the election of Bradford, Democrat, to Congress, in place of Pelham—a Democratic gain.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 3.—The Democrats claim certainly five Congressmen—a gain of two.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 3.—This city gives Greene, Fusion candidate for Governor, 5,000 majority.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 3.—The result for Governor is in doubt. Kershaw, Conservative, is certainly, and McGowan, Conservative, probably, elected to Congress in the Charleston District. Mackey, Fusion, beats Butts. Smalles, Republican, (colored), is elected from the Fifth District. Rainey's re-election from the First District is doubtful.

RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., November 3.—Benjamin T. Evans is elected to Congress in the First District, and Latimer W. Ballou in the Second District—both Republicans. There was a light vote.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., November 3.—Eames, Republican, for Congress, has a majority of 1,468, and Ballou, Republican, a majority of 4,091.

DELAWARE.

WILMINGTON, Del., November 3.—Returns from the State are incomplete, but the indications are that all three counties have gone Democratic, that there is not a Republican elected in the State.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, November 3.—O'Brien, Democrat, for Congress, is elected in the Third district by 4,453 majority, and Swann, Democrat, by 3,424 majority in the Fourth District.

BALTIMORE, November 3.—Thomas, Democrat, in the Sixth District, is elected by 750 majority.

TEXAS.

DENISON, TEX., November 3.—J. W. Throckmorton, Democrat, for Congress, 281; Limner, Republican, 14; Craven, Democrat State Senator, 281 over all other candidates.

HOUSTON, Texas, November 3.—Returns from the principal towns show large Democratic majorities in every district. Texas sends six Democrats to Congress.

NEVADA.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—The election in Nevada to-day was conducted quietly. Most places of business, all mills and saloons were closed. No returns have been received as yet.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 3.—The Sharon legislative ticket in Virginia city is elected by a fair majority.

KANSAS.

LEAVENWORTH, KS., November 3.—Returns from a few precincts in this county and estimates of the city, give Parrot, Reform candidate for Congress, 700 majority, and Osborn, Republican, for Governor, at least 1,500 majority. A light vtoe was cast.

VERMONT.

RUTLAND, Vt., November 3.—Dennison is elected to Congress over Portland without a doubt by a large majority.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1874.

BONDS at Frankfort 97⅛.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 23½f.

THE President's proclamation, setting apart the 26th instant as the time for observing Thanksgiving services, is generally concurred in by the Governors, and will doubtless be the day accepted. This custom of observing is becoming quite universal, and is a beautiful and appropriate recognition of a Providence in human affairs.

THE session of the Protestant Episcopal Convention, in New York, bids fair to be one of the most important in the history of that Church. The Reformed movement necessitated great deliberation and care, lest impetus might be given it, and the legislation, thus far, has been very moderate, and of a conciliatory nature. The question of Ritualism has been practically remanded to the churches, which leaves it in the same position as before,—except that influence of the legislation had is morally favorable to moderate views. The close of the session has been reached in an amicable, fraternal spirit.

THE direct cable that was being laid between this country and Europe, has been recovered. The fact that they secured it in nearly eighteen hundred fathoms of water, illustrates the perfection of the arrangements for laying and grappling ocean cables. The completion of the work of laying the direct cable, which ought to be speedily reached, should give us cheaper telegraphic communication with Europe, as well as a more liberal supply of European news. The importance to the press of a new ocean cable is far greater than is generally supposed. News is now received in outlines merely, and is limited in amount, while if facilities were afforded, a much larger supply would be received. It is thus of importance that we have a new cable, and we are gratified at the promise of this result.

THE elections yesterday passed off quietly, the smallness of the precincts preventing the large assemblage of voters customary on other occasions. It seemed also to have the effect of preventing interference with voters, and thus of controlling improperly votes. The election of yesterday in this city may be fairly said to have been a fair representation of the wishes of the people as to the particular candidates involved. Of course there was much division of sentiment as to the issues involved, and the diversity of votes represented this. The interest, through much of the day was, less than usual,—yet the aggregate vote polled was larger than had been anticipated. We cannot at this writing, note results. These will be given on our first page when the returns shall be sufficiently in for the returns to be approximately or accurately known.

THE celebrated Stevens battery bids fair to be awarded to the National Government,—it having put in a bid higher than other parties, but subject to the approval of Congress. The history of this battery is peculiar and interesting. Edwin A. Stevens, founder and for a long time President of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, expended large sums on this battery, carrying forward the work of construction secretly. At his death his will set apart a certain sum for the completion of the battery, the work to be under the superintendence of General McClellan, and it was then to be turned over to the State of New Jersey, under certain conditions. A vast sum was expended, but the cost of completing it seemed so enormous that it was abandoned, and the State has advertised it for sale. The Government bid $145,000,—and will probably get it for that sum.

LOUISIANA.

The returns from Louisiana indicate that at least a fair election has been held. The Conservatives admit that, which is a point gained. They have gained one Congressman, but this aside the State is doubtful, with the probabilities in favor of the election of the regular Republican candidates. That the Conservatives have done their best, and so far terrorized the colored people as to compel thousands of them to stay away from the polls is one of the clearest facts in connection with that election. The city of New Orleans, of course, went Conservative, by a majority ranging from 10,000 upwards. This was, of course, expected. The White Leagues were in training, and their influence went far toward controlling results in that city. If the general result in the State is as reported, the Republicans losing but one Congressman, it will be better than was anticipated, and indicates a stay in the tide of Conservatism in that State.

There were mistakes committed by both parties, in different parts of the State. The Conservatives, by their violence and terrorism, served to create sympathy for the Republican cause; but the latter, by its extreme rigidity in enforcing measures against offenders, created sympathy for them, in certain quarters. This was particularly the case in Shreveport, and at one or two interior points in the State. We hope, however, that the election may prove to be so transparently fair that no question will be raised as to its perfect legality. This, if the case, will go far toward entirely removing the bitter and warlike feeling that has so long prevailed in Louisiana, and which has so greatly retarded its prosperity. We have at no time entertained a desire for an unfair assumption of power by the Republican party. Rather than this, we would see the Conservatives in full possession of power. But if the Republicans are legally entitled to the Government, they should hold it, whatever the attempt may be to deprive them of it.

THE DAY AFTER.

We experience much gratification that another political canvass is ended, and that we can turn to other subjects. While the election of persons representing right political principles is in itself important, we are gratified when the canvass is ended. Particularly is this the case this year, when so many unusual influences obtruded, and the lines of parties were very loosely drawn. We do not now speak of the particular results reached,—but we have some plain words to offer to party managers. Whatever we may desire to have done, parties are and will, to a great extent, be led by persons who make politics a study, and the management of men an art. The combinations they make in the primaries are almost certain to be successful, because, as a rule, private citizens will not and cannot combine against them. Few of them have the experience and art that is requisite, while the belief has become quite prevalent that the primaries are so controlled that any effort they may make will be of no effect. Hence they let the primaries go, and have resorted to the more effective policy of striking objectionable candidates at the polls.

We do not wish here to argue the propriety or impropriety of all this. It is enough to say that the ice in this direction is broken, and that the most reputable of our citizens have broken over party lines, as against objectionable nominations. This method of dealing with objectionable names is certain to be continued, and the only remedy as against this, is to provide entirely unobjectionable candidates in the future. That this can be done is perfectly certain. Men are selected, and brought forward, while others are pushed into the background. That the unworthy class can be as well put aside as the others is of course perfectly evident. We only give expression to what must be well understood, when we say that the unity and prosperity of the Republican party depend upon this being done. It will certainly not bear many times the strain that has been put upon it this year. We have felt that the principles of the party required us to support the ticket; but a few more such movements, and all hope of success will be at an end.

What, then, should be done? We answer, that in Allegheny county there is need of reorganization from top to bottom. The party in the county is like an army that has come through a heavy campaign, or a disastrous battle,—it is broken, disorganized and lacking in the confidence of other years. Its organization is not destroyed, and its adherents still believe in the principles and policy of the party; but their faith in its management, and confidence in its leadership have suffered serious check. There were times during the war when the morale of the army was so broken, that important changes became necessary, merely to restore discipline and confidence. This is the situation of affairs in this county at the present. A quiet effective re-arrangement of the machinery of party management is one of the necessities of the hour. It needs to be promptly done, in order that some forethought and care may be exercised in future cases, when it may be necessary.

The first thought that should be exercised is, to secure such a clear manifestation of popular preference, as that the nominations of the party may clearly represent the prevailing choice of the party. Also, that they may realize the ideal of the party as to character and standing. Fair treatment and right management will recover all disadvantages, and rectify all mistakes.

Action and Reaction.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

In the year 1866 I wrote in your editorial columns a series of articles to show, that in Finance as in Mechanics, action and reaction are, by virtue of immutable law, inevitably equal; consequently, that in getting down from the ticklish point of 2.80 to the solid basis of par at 1.00, as much money would be lost by the business classes of this country as was made in going up. For the views thus propounded I received not a few solemn lectures. Only one Pittsburgher approved—Mr. Jno. Harper. Time has demonstrated, and is still demonstrating, the truth of the ideas I then sought to impress upon the readers of the GAZETTE for their advantage. Statesmen, bankers, manufacturers and merchants thought they could circumvent Nature, but they failed. Some of them are cherishing that delusion even to this hour, and are doomed to further disappointment.

No engineer can lay a railroad from Cresson to Pittsburgh without accepting heavy grade. That fact finds its analogy in Finance.

Very truly yours, F. B. PENNIMAN.

NEW PUBLICATION.

POTTER'S COMPLETE BIBLE ENCYCLOPEDIA. A universal treasury of religious knowledge, comprising History, Biography, Geography and Literature of the Bible.—Doctrinal and Practical Theology.—Church History, from the Days of the Apostles to the Present Time, including Full and impartial Accounts of the Various Religious Denominations, their respective Histories, Tenets, Forms, Ceremonies, etc.—Ecclesiastical Architecture and Nomenclature.—Biographies of Men eminent as Bible Commentators and Critics, Theological Writers and Speakers, Scholars, Philosophers, and Leaders in Schools of Thought, embracing the Apostolical and Mediaeval Fathers, the Saints of the Romish, Greek and English Calendars, the founders of False Systems of Religion, the Master Minds of the Great Reformation, and all Men and Woman Distinguished in the History of the Church, etc., etc., etc. Edited by Rev William Blackwood, D. D. LL. D., author of "Blackwood's Comprehensive Aids to the Study of the Holy Bible," etc., and editor of Brown's Self-Interpreting Bible, etc. etc., with valuable contributions by Eminent Divines of the Several Evangelical Denominations. The whole comprised in about 2,000 Quarto Brevier Pages with over 3,000 Choice Illustrated Engravings. Published by John E. Potter & Co., Philadelphia.

This Encyclopedia is being published in monthly parts, and the dozen numbers we have received indicate that the comprehensive design of the editor is being faithfully carried out. It is arranged in alphabetical order, all the topics being easily found, and the information is given in concise, clear, yet comprehensive style that makes the work eminently valuable as a reference book for the learned and the unlearned alike. It is not devoted to opinions, but facts, and thus there is no useless verbiage. There are no "words of learned length and thundering sound" to confuse the general reader, but the language is the good Anglo-Saxon in its terseness and purity.

The illustrations are as good as they are profuse; there is hardly a page that has not one or more illustrations, and nearly every subject is thus impressed upon the mind by an "object lesson," as well as descriptive. The range of the work is wide, but it is being well performed, and the Encyclopedia, when printed, will be a rich treasure house of Biblical lore, invaluable to the student, the teacher, the casual reader, the learned scholar, or any who would have collateral knowledge of the "Book of Books."

How the Edinburghs Are Pushing Themselves.

A good deal of amusement has been caused in town by the efforts of "the Edinburghs," as they are called in high society, to make themselves as conspicuous as possible. The Duke has arranged for a grand public reception at Ashford, where he has taken a house, to which he and the Grand Duchess were to have gone in the beginning of the week. But they were compelled to remain at Buckingham Palace, in consequence of the Duchess' sudden illness. When the baby was born the Foreign Secretary, in the absence of the Home Secretary, was summoned to be present on the occasion, and to attest the event. A special instruction was also sent to the Lord Mayor for publication in the city, and a royal salute was fired in St. James' Park. In short, the Duke had taken care to appropriate all the honors and ceremonies which are usually observed only in the case of the sovereign or heir to the throne. Whether his claim to these distinctions has been allowed to him as a junior member of the royal family, or as heir to his uncle, the Grand Duke of Saxe-Coburg, or merely because his wife is a Russian Grand Duchess, is one of the mysteries of the court. It is quite clear, however, that both Duke and Duchess are determined not to be lost sight of in the general crowd of junior Princes and Princesses, but to establish themselves in a position of semi-regal state. The Empress of Russia, who is now with her daughter, is in extremely delicate health, and it is said to have suffered a good deal from her hurried journey. In appearance she is fearfully worn and emaciated.—London Letter.

Don't Insult the Doctor.

A hearse was slowly rolling along towards the Cemetery Pere La Chaise, and a gig was running rapidly from the opposite direction. The two met, but the place was narrow, and one of the gig's wheels struck the hearse. The driver hurled an invective against the man that dared disturb the rest of the dead, and finished by saying:

"You ought to be boxed up in there yourself, you old villain!"

While this scene was passing, the janitor of the graveyard made signs for the driver to keep still, but he did not.

They entered. After the corpse was interred the janitor addressed him:

"Do you know what you have done, most miserable of men? Are you aware that if this man said but one word to the Board of Burial, you would be discharged instantly?"

"Oh, sir, you do frighten me so! Is it the Chief of Police?"

"More—much more."

"Good heavens! Not a minister, I hope?"

"Even more," answered the janitor, and then continued: "He of all men in the world is most useful to you. You are under particular obligations to him, and so am I. That is the great Dr. Pillkill, whose prescriptions have not failed to make business good for all of us."

"I am a lost man forever! For mercy's sake, janitor, say nothing of this."

"Very well, I won't. But use it as a lesson, and in the future always manifest the greatest respect toward those who have it in their power to make men die."

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

The Planting of Trees.

When planting, don't dig a hole like a bowl cistern, but dig it just as deep as the soil is, and no deeper; make the bottom of it one-third larger round than the top, and loosen up the very bottom. Then, as the tree is planted, throw in first an inch of real good, fresh, rich soil; set the tree, holding it with one hand while on your knees you spread its roots carefully with the other; let the assistant drop the dirt in upon the roots as he would if he had a sieve, and, as it is dropped in, do you who hold the tree upon your bended knees, work every root carefully out straight on a level line with the point or junction of it with the main stems, use the fingers outspread in mingling the fine dirt with the roots, and be careful that not an air space is left at the bottoms, and also that the earth upon the lower roots is packed the hardest or tightest of any. As you reach the upper roots only see that each root is surely surrounded with earth, and then let the last four inches of earth be sprinkled on with a spade or shovel, without pressure of foot or anything else; don't even flat it with the shovel, and be sure to keep your own and Paddy's feet off, for every pressure will destroy the natural position of the root below.

FATTENING FOWLS.

As a general rule, the farmer should not desire that his poultry should be very fat, for there is a kind of antagonism between reproduction and the storing of much fat in the tissues. If it was a mere question of what to do with the material, there would seem to be no reason why a fowl, once having attained her full weight, should not then always begin to lay. Fat in a living being is generally as foreign to the system as if it were dried out and stowed away in a pantry; and yet a certain proportion of it seems to be the rule with all animals in their ordinary health, the amount varying with the individual. Fowls cannot be made to fatten when only partly matured, a few breeds excepted, for they need most of their feed for growth, like spare youths, who eat voraciously and grow prodigiously, while remaining awkward and long. This is no reason why chickens, intended for the table, should not be generously fed, for the more they eat the greater the quantity of their flesh, of course; the quality is also much better. Adult fowls can be fattened upon grain of various sorts, fed for a change. But as variety not only stimulates appetite, but aids digestion, a very little animal food of extra nice quality, as nice beef's liver, or other butcher's meat, should be added daily, and fresh vegetables also. But on no account give much of these last, for not only is grain cheaper and productive of the best quality of flesh, but much meat is too exciting, and vegetables, fed freely, keep the bowels too active, and therefore retard fattening.

MAKING SAUER-KRAUT.

The best we ever eat we made ourselves for many years, and for a considerable time with our own hands, and always from Savoy cabbage. It was manufactured in this wise: In the first place let your "stand," holding from a half barrel to a barrel, be thoroughly scalded out; the cutter, the tub, and the stamper all well scalded. Take off all the outer leaves of the cabbages, halve them, remove the heart, and proceed with the cutting. Lay some clean leaves at the bottom of the stand, sprinkle with a handful of salt, fill in a half bushel of the cut cabbage, stamp gently until the juice just makes its appearance, then add another handful of salt, and so on until the stand is full. Cover over with cabbage leaves, place on top a clean board fitting the space pretty well, and on top of that a stone weighing twelve or fifteen pounds. Stand away in a cool place, and when hard freezing comes on remove to the cellar. It will be ready for use in from four to six weeks. The cabbage should be cut tolerably coarse. The Savoy variety makes the best article, but it is only half as productive as the Drumhead and Flat Dutch.

DESTROYING CATERPILLARS ON FRUIT TREES.

Mr. J. Weidemann, New York, the landscape gardener, tells us that at various trials he has found, that the most effective way of destroying caterpillars on fruit trees is by means of a long pole, to the end of which a whisk of straw is fastened. Moisten the straw in a solution of soft soap, for which process either water or lye may be used. Merely touch the insects that thus settle in and about the angles of the branches and you will have them all killed. He also says: For bruised trees use the sifted hard wood ashes mixed with clear, fresh cow manure, which makes soon a solid mass; the amount of potash contained in the ashes not permitting the insects to live. Ashes may also be recommended for the preservation of seed potatoes, dusting them with it when taken out for planting in February—thus preventing their premature germination.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

HORSE MANAGEMENT.

Horses should not be stinted in their feed. Work horses should be put out to pasture at night, but they should have their usual allowance of other feed. They have some lost flesh to make up. Scrape off the eggs of the botfly from their fore-legs and shoulders with a sharp knife, or wash them off with warm water every evening. Three hours' rest at noon is not too much for the team while plowing. The lost time may be made up at morning and night. This arrangement is not a bad one for the driver as well. Give water often, and don't forget the handful of cornmeal stirred into it. Colts may be taught to eat a little meal or bran, and to be handled freely. Careful attention and the gentlest possible treatment should be given to all young stock at this season.

A SIMPLE DISINFECTANT.

One pound of green copperas, costing seven cents, dissolved in one quart of water and poured down a water-closet, will effectually concentrate and destroy the foulest smells. On board ships and steamboats, about hotels and other public places, there is nothing so nice to purify the air. Simple green copperas, dissolved in anything under the bed, will render a hospital or other places for the sick, free from unpleasant smells. In fish markets, slaughter houses, sinks, and wherever there are offensive gases, dissolve copperas and sprinkle it about, and in a few days the smell will all pass away. If a cat, rat or mouse dies about the house and sends off offensive gas, place some dissolved copperas in an open vessel near the place where the nuisance is, and it will purify the air. Then keep clean.

PRUNING GRAPE VINES WHILE IN LEAF.

In the hothouse culture of the grapevine in England, it has been found that pruning the vines in September, while the leaves are on, has the effect of causing the vines to mature their fruit two weeks earlier than when they are pruned later, or earlier in the year, when the leaves are off. It is well worth while to make experiments with late ripening vines, such as the Catawba, and now is the time to put them into practice. In a few weeks the leaves will be off and the opportunity will be lost. Let every reader who grows Catawbas, try the experiment of pruning one vine before the leeves fall, and note the result.

DO MOLES EAT VEGETABLES?

There is a way to settle this definitely, and yet among farmers this is a question, and part of our farmers do not permit the killing of the moles, as they believe that they destroy the larvæ of the May-beetle and other insects; while others charge them with all sorts of sins, and destroy them on all occasions. For one, I have taken the side of the entomologists, who say that this animal feeds on insects only, and does an immense amount of good to farmers.

GOOD SOFT RYE BREAD.

For a small baking, make a sponge, adding two teaspoonfuls of good hop yeast. This will rise in two hours to a perfect foam. Take some warm milk, and stir in flour as you would meal for a hasty pudding. Add the sponge, and to each loaf one egg. Stir in as much flour as you can conveniently. Grease the pans well. Wet the hands with cold water, and smooth it over.

VALUABLE RECIPES.

Stewed Tomatoes.—Scald them in order to remove the skins. Cut them up and put them into a sauce-pan, with a little salt, a bit of butter and some fine crumbs of bread or pounded cracker. Let them stew gently an hour; if you like them sweet, add sugar ten minutes before serving.

Cauliflower Omelette.—Take the white part of a boiled cauliflower after it is cold and chop it very small, and mix with it a sufficient quantity of well beaten egg, to make a thick batter, and then fry it in fresh butter, in a small pan, and send it to the table hot.

Carbonado, a Norwegian Dish.—It consists of mince meat, eggs, and fine herbs made up into a kind of cake, and then fried or baked. The meat, probably, if cooked in an ordinary way, would defy mastication, but thus treated it is really a dainty plate.

Maccaroni with Cheese.—Boil maccaroni in water until soft, drain off the water, then stew it with a little butter, cream and cheese; season to the taste with salt and spices; put in a dish and place in a hot oven to brown.

Lamb Stew.—Take a shoulder of lamb, boil it in two quarts of water for two hours. Then put in potatoes, onions, turnips, cut in quarters; salt and pepper to the taste. Ten minutes before serving put in the dumplings.

Rice Jelly.—Boil one pound of rice flour with half a pound of loaf sugar in a quart of water, until the whole becomes a glutinous mass; strain off the jelly and let it stand to cool. This is nutritious and light.

MR. ROBERT BONNER has purchased from Mr. Gray, of Boston, the wonderful five-year-old, Wellesley Boy, for a double horse to trot aside of Startle. The price paid is not announced. It is known that Mr. Gray asked $25,000 for him, and that Mr. William H. Vanderbilt was a competitor for the purchase.

THE BARNYARD FOWL.

Bangs' Address at a Poultry Show.

Max Adeler tells this: A poultry show was held recently by the Agricultural Society in New Castle, and Col. Bangs, who is a member of the Society, was invited to deliver the address at the commencement of the fair. Bangs prepared what he considered a very learned paper upon the culture of domestic fowls: and when the time arrived, he was on the platform ready to enlighten the audience. The birds were arranged around the hall in cages; and when the exhibition had been formally opened by the chairman, Bangs came forward with his manuscript in his hand. Just as he began to read it, a black Poland rooster close to the stage uttered a loud and defiant crow. There were about two hundred roosters in the hall, and every one of them instantly began to crow in the most vociferous manner, and the noise excited the hens so much that they all cackled as loudly as they could.

Of course the speaker's voice could not be heard, and he came to a dead halt, while the audience laughed. After waiting for ten minutes, silence was again obtained, and the Colonel began to speak a second time.

As soon as he had uttered the words, "Ladies and gentlemen," the Poland rooster, which seemed to have a grudge against Bangs, emitted another preposterous crow, and all the other fowls in the room joined in the deafening chorus. The audience roared, and the Colonel grew red in the face with passion. But the noise subsided he went at it again, and got as far as—

"Ladies and gentlemen, the domestic barnyard fowl affords a subject of the highest interest to the—" when the Poland rooster became engaged in a contest with an overgrown Shanghai chicken, and this set the hens of the combatants to cackling, and in a moment the entire collection was in another uproar. This was too much. Colonel Bangs was beside himself with rage. He flung down his manuscript, rushed to the cage, and shaking his fist at the Poland chicken, exclaimed:

"You diabolical fiend, I've a half a mind to bu'st you open!"

Then he kicked the cage to pieces with his foot, and seizing the rooster, twisted its neck and flung it on the floor. Then he fled from the hall, followed by peals of laughter from the audience and more terrific clatter from the fowls. The exhibition was then opened without further ceremony, and Bangs's dissertation on the domestic barn-yard fowl was lost to the world. Bangs has since resigned from the society. He takes less interest in poultry than he used to do.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

GENERAL LE GENDRE has published at Yokohama an argument that the Chinese claim to Formosa is without just foundation.

ONE hundred and seventy-two Frenchmen who were induced to emigrate to Lower Canada by rose-colored representations write home that they are in misery and want help.

IN Belgium a fruit grower has had great success in communicating artificial flavors to natural fruit. He punctures the fruit and keeps it a few seconds in a solution of the flavoring substance, and permits it to ripen subsequently.

AT Neuilly, in the suburbs of Paris, there is a harem, which the police have inquired into and—left alone. It is in the home of a Turk. He has 160 wives, but keeps the mass of them at Constantinople, and only brings twelve to Paris at a time.

ONE must take care how he takes pity. In France a farmer found a little gypsy girl of eleven years in the road. She said her sister had deserted her. Out of pity he took her home—and two weeks later she ran away with his baby eight months old.

HUMOROUS.

THE name of a Missouri editor is Wufadam, but his paper is not.

A WEALTHY and devoted husband in Chicago, according to a local journal, keeps his wife "illuminated with brilliants."

THE lady who was married in a balloon, in Cincinnati, the other day, has shown how it affected her by blowing up her husband higher than a kite.

WE are told that "the smallest hair throws a shadow." And so it does. It throws a shadow over your appetite when you find it in your victuals.

"MEN scorn to kiss among themselves,
And scarce would kiss a brother;
But women want to kiss so bad
They kiss and kiss each other."

THE New Orleans Picayune prints an interesting fable about a resident of that city who has taken so much tannin into his system, in order to be able to swallow nails, that he has turned into leather.

A LECTURER, wishing to explain to a little girl the manner in which a lobster casts his shell when he has outgrown it, said: "What do you do when you have outgrown your clothes? You throw them aside, don't you?" "Oh, no," replied the little one, "we let out the tucks."

"HOW DO you like the character of St. Paul?" asked a parson of his landlady one day. "Oh, he was a good, clever old soul, I know, for he once said, you know, that we must eat what is put before us, and ask no questions for conscience's sake. I always thought I should like him for a boarder."

BEN COX has a big farm and a big lot of fine hens. The owls have been "going for" Ben's hens. Ben got a pole, split it at one end, and inserted a sharp scythe blade for the owls to light upon when they came for hens. Ben put it up the other night to try it. The next morning he went out and gathered about a gallon of owl toes, and he doesn't miss any more hens either.

Autumn Leaves.

Gathering and preserving autumn leaves is at this season one of the employments of ladies and young people. On this subject, Harper's Bazar says: If you like your leaves varnished, copal varnish is the sort to use, but it must not be applied until the leaves have been for some days or even weeks under a heavy weight, laid smoothly between layers of soft paper. You may dispense entirely with varnish if you prefer, and may insure to yourself the almost perfect preservation of the original colors by using layers of raw cotton instead of paper when you put your leaves aside to dry. When thoroughly dried they may be applied to many ornamental uses. A painted wreath or other combination of foliage may be so perfectly imitated that only its touch can convince the beholder that the picture is not the work of an artist's pencil. This is done by applying mucilage to the back of the leaves and disposing them in a graceful and effective manner upon a sheet of pure white card-board. The picture may be enclosed in a frame of rustic workmanship to be in keeping, but should be covered with glass to be preserved from injury. Pretty mats may be made of card-board decorated with a border of leaves, and for this purpose maple leaves are especially appropriate.

Gluttony.

While the war against intemperance in drinking is being waged, why does not some one rise up to combat intemperance in eating? How does it happen that amid the everlasting cry against drunkenness we never hear a word against its sister evil—gluttony? I think, says a well-known physician, I can assert with truth that, in a long practice, three have died among my patients from over-eating, where one has died from drink. Whence come apoplexy, paralysis, dyspepsia, and a host of other diseases, but from too much rich food, taken under most imprudent circumstances? And yet we hear of no society formed to prevent this growing evil. A man eats until he drops down with apoplexy by the roadside, when up comes the coroner with a jury of twelve good men and true, who pronounce a verdict, "Died from intemperance." So he did, but what kind of intemperance was it? I have heard more than one minister in the pulpit expatiate with great vehemence against the sin of drunkenness, whose very appearance was proof positive that he was pre-eminently guilty of gluttony.

Cured at Last.

A lady acquaintance read the following paragraph in a paper: "A young wife once cured her husband of a disposition to absent himself from home at night by providing a good dinner, and saying to him afterwards, 'George, if you find a sweeter spot than our home, describe it to me, and I will rival it or die in the attempt.' A kiss and a few tears completed the victory." This lady acquaintance tried the game on her husband. He wasn't melted a bit; he merely said: "When you can get the boys to come here and smoke cigars and talk politics, and you set up a keg of lager, you can count me in. I like the company of the boys, I do." Our lady saw that sentiment had no effect on him. So she didn't throw herself on his neck and hug and wet his paper collar with her tears; but she took a saucer and fired it at his head, and followed it up with a cup, and ended it by slinging a dish of strawberries on his shirt bosom. Since that time he has been an exemplary husband. Yet he does seem anxious for her to visit her dear mother as often as four or five times a week.

How Drains Act.

The water which runs into drains dug in tough clay soil, enters from the sides and the bottom, and not from immediately above the drains. The toughest clay is sufficiently permeable to water to allow it to pass through readily, and after the drains have been in operation sometime, regular and permanent water channels become established in the soil leading from above to the bottom of the drains. In digging drains in tough, compact clay, numerous small veins of water are cut, which show very clearly how readily the water will pass through such soil as soon as outlets are provided. The advantage of the deeper drains is thus explained, and it is readily seen that their influence extends further in proportion to their depth.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

MRS. LANDER, with Frank Lawlor's company, appears in Baltimore November 9.

MR. HEYWOOD, an American, is singing soprano parts in opera at Berlin. He has had great success as Leonora in "Trovatore."

ONE writer has compared Clara Morris to a volcano, and another to the aurora borealis. Because, we suppose, she is so true to mother Nature.

MISS ADELAIDE LENNOX, who will be remembered as a leading actress in the Grand Opera House Company last season, is writing a play of English society.

SOME time ago a Parisian manager, not so rich as they are here, borrowed a twenty franc piece of a Bohemian, and the Bohemian has lived on the cafe men ever since on the tradition that "a manager had accepted a piece from him."

LOTTA is said by the Philadelphia Bulletin to evidence great kicking power in her new play of "Musette." "She kicks at the furniture and at visitors," says that paper, "and when she has nothing else to kick at she kicks out at eternal and inconceivable space."

"I WANT you all to understand that there is to be no levity on the stage to-night," said the manager of a city theater to the supernumeraries, as the curtain was rung up. "What's a levity, Bill?" asked one supernumerary of another. "Oh," said the other, "I don't know. Suppose it's a cross 'tween a farce and a comedy!"

THE new, grand military drama of "Richard Cœur de Lion," produced at Drury Lane, is said to be dazzlingly brilliant from beginning to end. The scenery includes a moonlight view of the Arabian Desert, a chapel with illuminated altar, procession of choristers swinging a real incense, St. George's Mount, the Grand Square in Damascus, and a grand tournament. The scenery is said to be hardly equalled by the action of the piece.

THE tenor Wachtel has made the part of the Postillion de Longjumeau his specialty, not that he sings the music with more taste or talent than his confreres, but for the artistic manner in which he cracks his whip, he having filled in reality the calling of postillion before acting on the stage. He is said to have now a formidable rival in Nachbour, who is playing the part at Berlin, and who also has a great deal of snap in him.

"I WAS assured," said Toole, the great comedian, "that rural felicity was soothing to the mind, so I took a place in the country. It was a cottage with a long garden. I was only permitted to indulge in the mild occupation of clearing the garden of snails. I had to put them in a flower pot and take them to the end of the garden. This I found tiring, and I hit upon the expedient of throwing them all over the wall. But the snails increased with great rapidity, and the mystery was only explained as one morning looking from my window I discovered an elderly individual playing a similar game and casting his snails and my own back into my grounds. This is my experience of country life."

MLLE. HORTENSE SCHNEIDER, the Parisian Queen of the Opera-Bouffe, was, in her youth, a working girl, and the daughter of a humble tailor of Bordeaux. She is now, at about 40 years of age, living in the style of a Sultana. Her diamonds are valued at over $200,000; and among her other jewels of fabulous cost is cited an emerald set of surpassing splendor. Her apartments are crowded with the most elegant and expensive furniture and objets de vertu. Bronzes, and marbles, and pictures, and cyrstal, and Sevres porcelain, and Gobelin tapestry, are scattered through her rooms in sumptuous profusion. Although the charm of youth is forever lost to Mlle. Schneider, she still has the handsomest arms and hands, the prettiest foot, and the merriest blue eyes, that flash, and sparkles and entice, behind the Parisian footlights.

THEY have arranged a most extravagant programme for Miss Cushman's farewell to the stage in New York on Saturday. At the conclusion of the regular evening performance, Miss Cushman is to be made the centre of a group, we are told, of the companies of the various theatres, with their managers, and delegates from the two professional clubs, the Lotos and the Arcadian; William Cullen Bryant is to read a poem written to order for the occasion; Judge Brady "will then, in the midst of music from the large orchestra and the Ninth Regiment Band, present Miss Cushman with a Greek lyria of laurel leaves, and the masks of Tragedy and Comedy in immortelles." She will afterward be carried to the hotel in an open carriage, "drawn by six white horses," and preceded by the Ninth Regiment Band; and the night will close with a reception at the Arcadian. Grant, Dix, Havemeyer, the Judges of the Supreme Court, are expected to be present. This is sufficiently immense to suit New York, we hope; but we can hardly understand how Miss Cushman can consent to such a theatrical show.

THE PRINTER—A PARODY.

The following parody was written by Mr. Thomas Collins, and published in the GAZETTE in 1827, when Mr. C. was a practical printer and engaged on this paper, then published by Messrs. Mathew & David McClean.

"To sigh, yet feel no pain."

To work, yet get no pay;
To live, yet scarce know how;
To keep a while, the law at bay,
Then 'neath its yoke to bow;
To work in many a town,
Yet fix in none a home,
To think all other trades unsound,
But those that let us roam;
This is life—journeyman's life—
Such roving jours as have no wife.

To keep one steady side
Through good, through ill report,
To stem alike rude slander's tide,
As well through flattery's court,
To feel that we act right,
In spite of slander's tongue;
That though attack'd by party spite
We feel not conscience stung;
This is life—faithful editors life—
Since faith as this could love a wife.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3, 1827. T.

The Number of Eggs in a Hen.

A curious point of inquiry among zoologists has been, for a long time, how many eggs there are in the ovary of a hen. To determine this, a German naturalist, a short time since, instituted some careful investigations, the result of which showed the ovary of a hen to contain about 600 embryo eggs. He also found that some twenty of these are matured the first year, about 120 during the second year, 135 during the third, 114 during the fourth, and during the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth years, the number decreases by twenty annually, it consequently following that, after the fourth, or at most the fifth, year, hens are no longer profitable as layers, unless it may be in exceptional instances.

Some interesting experiments were also made, a short time since, in Germany, to determine the comparative fecundity of ducks and hens—that is, from which of the two the larger number of eggs can be obtained in the same time. For this purpose, three hens and three ducks were selected, all hatched in February, and nourished with suitable food. The following Autumn the ducks had laid 225 eggs, while the hens laid none. In the next February, the laying season began again with the ducks, and continued uninterruptedly until August. They showed no inclination to sit, and became very thin, although they afterwards fattened up somewhat. The total number of eggs laid by the hens amounted to 257, or 86 eggs each; and 392, or 131 each for the ducks. Although the eggs of the ducks were rather smaller than those of the hens, yet they proved to be decidedly superior in nutritive material, so that the superiority in productiveness was decidedly with the ducks.

In regard to the means or possibility of deciding the sex of eggs, much difference of opinion exists. But M. Genin, in a communication to the French Academy of Sciences, on this subject, states that he is now able, after having investigated the matter carefully for several years, to state that all eggs containing the germ of males have wrinkles on their smaller ends, while female eggs are smooth at the extremities.—New York Times.

FINANCIAL.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, November 4, 1874.

Financial matters were very quiet yesterday, with but limited transactions. What little business was done was about at the rates of discount previously quoted. The elections in progress throughout the country appeared to absorb the principal attention of business men as well as politicians, and now that they are over, we may anticipate a revival in business of all particulars.

FRANKLIN'S FUND.

The fund for aiding worthy young mechanics by loans Franklin left, in 1791, has miscarried somewhat. Some of the mechanics who borrowed have omitted the formality of repayment; the number of borrowers has not been sufficient to keep the funds in constant employment; and the Trustees, particularly in Philadelphia, have not reinvested it as promptly as one would have expected them to do. Franklin said in his will that he expected the sum to reach £131,000 in 100 years, 1891. The original amount was £1,000; in 1811, it was $9,000; in 1866, $110,182; and in the beginning of this year, $182,278; at this rate of increase it will be nearly half a million in 1891, not far from Franklin's estimate of $582,000.

CUBAN FINANCES.

Cuban finances are in desperate straits. The paper currency has become deeply depreciated, despite the Quixotic attempts of the Government to uphold its value by proclamation. Tax succeeds tax, the last being a 5 per cent. tax on capital. But this may not be enforced. An Havana letter of the 24th ult. says:

"It has been reported that the Madrid Government has telegraphed Concha, disapproving of the 5 per cent. tax on capital, and ordering him not to enforce its collection. This report has no doubt been the cause of the sudden rise in gold."

It is said that the tax on income is to be increased from 10 per cent. to 20 per cent., instead of enforcing the tax on capital, and that an export duty is to be levied on sugar as follows: $5 gold per box, $15 per hogshead. These are, however, rumor."

COAL TRADE.

The total of anthracite marketed for the week ending on the 24th ultimo amounted to 508,179 tons, and for the coal year 14,794,698 tons, against 15,890,700 tons to corresponding time last year, being a decrease of 1,197,102 tons. The bituminous tonnage for the week is 77,419 tons, and for the year 2,745,550 tons, against 2,712,438 tons to same time last year, giving a total of all kinds for the week of 585,598 tons, and for the year of 17,540,257 tons, against 18,603,138 tons to the same time last year, being a decrease of 1,062,881 tons. At Port Richmond for the week ending the 31st ult. the receipts of coal were 64,000 tons, the shipments 63,000 tons, leaving 95,000 tons on hand. The coal and coke tonnage of the Pennsylvania Railroad last week was 91,204 tons, and for the year 2,604,014. Of anthracite and bituminous there were 2,216,517 tons, and of coke 388,521 tons. This includes the tonnage of coal both east and west. Vessels during the past week have been in fair supply, with freights ruling steady at $1.35@1.40 to Providence, $1.60@1.70 to Boston, and 95 cents to New York. The coal production the past week was unusually large, and especially so from the Schuylkill region, the tonnage of the Reading's road and canal reaching 159,532 tons as against 82,820 tons in corresponding week last year. This increase of tonnage has no doubt been materially stimulated by the announcement of the advance in coal prices to take place to-day. The advance this year is ended. What may be determined on for the next is as yet unknown, though it is altogether probable that some working arrangement or understanding similar to that of the present year will control the coal trade of 1875. The coal market is fairly active on a large supply of coal on hand. The last public sale of Scranton coal at New York showed an average advance in prices of 18 cents per ton, thus evidencing an advance in the market for coal over that put on by the producing companies for the current month.

PITTSBURGH DAILY MARKETS.

This being election day, business was generally regarded as a secondary matter, although, at best, it has been nothing to brag about for some time past. Our merchants, as a rule, are complaining; many of them say that last month was the poorest October they have had for several years, and, furthermore, there is not much prospect of an improvement this side of January. The demand for everything is considerably curtailed, the masses are touching all the leading staples very lightly, and dispensing with everything approaching luxuries, hence, while there is a fair business doing in the every day necessities of life, there are many branches of trade that are considerably depressed.

APPLES—The demand is increasing but the supply is fully equal to it and prices are no better; most of the sales at $1.50@2.50 ₩ bbl.

APPLE BUTTER—In kegs, 60@65.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged; mediums, $2@2.75; navies, $2.40@2.50.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—4½c ₩ ℔.

BUTTER—The market is still reported dull, with no change, however in prices; good to prime roll, 27@30.

CHEESE—Regular jobbing sales at 16½@17 for prime Ohio Factory and 16½@18 for New York do.

CHESTNUTS—$2.75@3 ₩ bushel.

EGGS—Fresh continue very scarce and prices have further advanced; sales were reported to-day at 28 and 29, and even 30. Pickled may be quoted at 20@25, according to brand.

FLOUR—Continues quiet and unchanged. Spring wheat flours, $5.75@6 for Wisconsins, and $6.25@6.50 for Minnesotas. Rye Flour, $5.75.

GRAIN—The grain trade continues dull, and dealers say that, in addition to a light demand, current rates afford little or no margin for profit. Wheat is quiet and unchanged; red winter, $1.12@1.15 and amber and white, $1.18@1.20. Oats continue quiet, and while there is a firmer feeling on the part of holders, in view of diminished receipts, prices are barely maintained; 56 to 59, according to quality, with some dealers asking 60 for prime western white. New Ear Corn is firmer but unchanged—63 to 65 cents; new shelled, 67 to 70, as to quality. Old Shelled, 80 to 83 and dull. Rye is selling at $1@1.05. The Chicago Inter-Ocean, of Monday, says in regard to Barley, "The excitement and the interest which has been gradually developing in this market for some days past culminated to-day in a strong and apparently successful "corner." Several operators had failed to provide for their "shorts," and were obliged to buy in on the market. The result was an advance of 10@15 cents ₩ bushel; the outside price bid being $1.35, but this price failed to induce any sales. The current price for Monday's delivery was $1.20.

GROCERIES—Our dispatches, both from Baltimore and New York, continue to report Rio Coffee firm, with a very limited supply in first hands, although, as a rule, the jobbing trade are buying only to supply immediate wants, carrying no more stock than is absolutely necessary, which indicates a want of confidence in the future. Sugars quiet and unchanged, and the same is true of Molasses, Syrups and Rice.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

There was a firmer feeling developed in the market for refined to-day, with some inquiry, but the prices bid are by no means very tempting to refiners, notwithstanding they are a shade better than they were at the close of last week. Philadelphia delivery was quoted at 10¾@10⅞, and Baltimore at 10½—the latter delivery could have been sold at the price in question. Crude remains as quoted in our last report—72½c ₩ bbl. at Parker for immediate shipment.

The Philadelphia Press of Monday, referring to the situation, present as well as prospective, says: "Reports from the producing districts of further strikes, thereby increasing the daily production to 33,000 barrels, and the fact that within the next thirty days not less than eighty new wells will finish drilling, when in all probability the daily yield will be still greater, have had the effect of completely demoralizing the market, and the course of values since the first of the week has been steadily downward, refined opening at 11¼ cents and closing nominal to-day at 10¾@10⅞ cents, the lowest point ever before known in the history of the trade. Even at this liberal concession there is an entire lack of demand from any quarter. Rarely, if ever before, has the market been in a more demoralized state, and with nothing in the future looking towards an improvement, the situation is gloomy indeed. The high rates of railroad freights are the subject of no little discussion among certain refiners, and the selection of another point where the article can be laid down cheaper than here, is being thought seriously of. Baltimore claims a decided advantage over Philadelphia in this respect, since oil can be laid down there fully sixty cents per barrel cheaper than here, and the only difficulty in the way would be a lack of suitable vessels in which to transport it. This objection might in time be removed, and with the above difference in the cost of freight, refiners would be enabled to offer their supplies on more advantageous terms, which would naturally attract shippers.

New York Breadstuffs Market—Weekly Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Our Wheat market since this day week has been distinguished by rapid fluctuations and a good degree of activity. The arrivals have been quite large, and with liberal supplies on our canals and lakes, coupled with the unfavorable advices from Liverpool, and the reduced limits to shippers' orders, have greatly depressed our market at times. Prices of Spring declined early in the week to $1.02@1.02½ for No 2 Chicago Spring, afloat, and $1.05@1.05½ for No 2 Milwaukee, afloat. Since then the market has fluctuated considerably, improving on Wednesday, and subsequently falling back to the lowest figures of the season, and to prices 33@35c ₩ bushel below those current at the corresponding date last year, and this under receipts showing a deficiency at the Upper Lake ports alone of more than 7,000,000 bushels; and, we ask, what would have been the probable prices here had the receipts equaled those of last year? We answer, at least 20c ₩ bushel less; and what would the farmer realize for his crop? Not much above 50 or 55c per bushel. We hear very intelligent merchants, or those that claim to be so animadverting upon the folly of farmers holding back their crop. They seem to forget that with a fair average crop in Europe and more than an average here, that we have a limited market for our large surplus this Autumn, and it must be plain to every intelligent dealer that we can only make it as Great Britain can take it—to attempt to dispose of the same quantity we did last Autumn, under existing circumstances, it appears to us would be sheer folly, and few, if any, but the shipping interests would have profited by it. The results of the movement of the crop thus far, it is well known, have been disastrous to many, and the consequence resulting from an addition of 7,500,000 bush to the present aggregate, with freights 12@13 c₩ bush, it seems to us it would not have failed to be otherwise than disastrous in the extreme. If we have so much depression with our present supplies, it appears to us that millers in the interest of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan cannot safely pay over 80c for Red Winter; 85c for Choice Amber; and 90c@$1 for Good to extra Winter. We are aware that the passion for grinding Wheat with most millers is so strong that rather than be idle they will pay prices for it totally unwarranted by all the surrounding circumstances, and in this way none but the farmer is benefited, and he only for one season. If the farmer of the West continues every year to increase his area under wheat, he must suffer the consequences of his bad husbandry, and instead of devoting all his increased acreage to Wheat he had devoted it to Barley, Flaxseed, Rye, Oats, Corn, and Wheat in equal proportion, or as circumstances would prove to warrant, we should not have these excessive supplies of any one grain from year to year, and consequently avoid the panics and depressions incident to the grain trade. The decline and fluctuations in Winter Wheats have not been so marked and violent as in Spring, owing to the comparatively small supply here and on the canals and lakes, and to the fact of its being better sustained at Liverpool and London than Spring, and is more popular than the latter. The movement the past few days at the North-West is light, and we find the quantity in sight is falling off, and we find it is 11,261,985 bush against 8,573,540 bush the corresponding time last year. The quantity on the canal is 1,588,137 bushels, which is liberal. The stock in store is 2,818,059 bushels, against 1,326,179 bushels the corresponding date last year. The exports of the week are 559,942 bushels, against 948,413 bush, the corresponding week last year. Much depression and heaviness have resulted from the character of the Spring Wheat pressed for sale, but we cannot expect anything further until we have an honest inspection here.

The features of our flour market the past week have proved very unsatisfactory to all parties, jobbers, exporters and receivers. Under the more liberal arrivals, especially of Winter Wheat brands, holders have been compelled to submit to a decline daily to effect sales promptly, and we had to note great irregularity in the sales. The supply has been so largely in excess of the wants of the local and export trade, that sales could only be made by submitting to ruinous prices. In some instances the "slaughter" has been very great, so determined have some sellers been to realize; this was particularly true of Friday's market, when really good Family brands Winter Wheat were sold at $5.88@5.98—that a week since brought 6.30@6.40 ₩ barrel. This was chiefly due to the large arrivals of this description, and the absence of shippers from the market; their limits having been greatly reduced, holders had no choice, if compelled to sell, but to tempt jobbers who now hold fair stocks; hence the situation was anything but a pleasant one to attempt to realize on a market so greatly demoralized. The existing state of the market would admonish millers to purchase Wheat much lower, or not at all, and one thing must be very apparent to them, that the production of Flour, even with many mills idle for want of water, is largely in excess of the wants of the trade. Eastern markets are largely supplied and we have added freely to our stock, so that millers must count on a much lower average in this market than most dealers have encouraged them to expect, and buy Wheat at prices to correspond; our present stock is about 360,000 bushels, and is likely to increase materially this coming month, so that under existing circumstances we cannot count on any reaction at an early day; Shipping Extras are lower, but they have not been offered so freely as other grades, and at the close are heavy at our reduced figures; Old Minnesota have sold slowly, and are lower and unsettled; New Minnesota are quite plenty, and have again declined; the trade in Family Minnesota brands is not as active as last year, owing doubtless to the much lower prices current for good Winter Wheat Family brands, these being taken largely in its stead; in City Ground a good business has been done in the West Indies and Central America, and a fair demand may be noted for Liverpool and London; the exports of the week have been 40,783 bbls, against 32,444 barrels the corresponding week last year.—Tribune.

The river remains about stationary at this point, with five inches according to the marks, but there are from 12 to 14 inches in the channel. Weather smokey and warmer, with a south wind; and general indications favorable for rain.

The Messenger will be the first boat out for St. Louis, as she is already partially loaded.

We are in hopes that our boatmen will not have to wait much longer for water, and besides a resumption of navigation would tend somewhat to revive general business.

—Yesterday's Cincinnati Commercial says: Capt. Verhoeff, Capt. Charlie Miller, and Capt. M. L. Virden, and Passenger Agent Sam. Black of Louisville, arrived here yesterday and were in conference with our New Orleans and Memphis steamboat owners and masters relative to the management of the forthcoming season's business. The subject of barges was discussed, but the agents have not yet been appointed for either the Memphis or New Orleans lines. Captain Shinkle of the Charles Bodman, and Captain Stein, of the Charles Morgan, attended the meeting yesterday. Captain Stein has joined the organization, and entered his new steamer Charles Morgan in the line. The Louisville and New Orleans packets will leave Louisville every Wednesday, and in case they are detained, leave on any other day in the week, except Saturday. Captain Vint. Shinkle and Captain Albert Stein, of Cincinnati, and Captain Verhoeff, of Louisville, were appointed a committee to confer with a similar committee from the St. Louis steamboat men, to arrange the rates of freights from Cairo South.......The three largest steamers on the Western rivers—Great Republic, Thompson Dean and James Howard—are lying at Cairo, awaiting a revival of business. Captain R. W. Dugan, just from Cairo, says Captain Paul has repainted the Dean, making her look beautiful......On Thursday night, thirty men slipped up on and captured a band of river pirates near Stephensport, Kentucky. Their mode of operation was to float down during the day and stop at night, go ashore and pilfer farm houses and small villages of whatever they could get away with. They had committed a great many bold depredations on the people along the lower Ohio, and were becoming the terror of the country. At last the citizens armed themselves and made an attack upon them, capturing about half of the gang.

—The New Orleans Anchor Line and its affairs have been a godsend to the aquatic gentlemen for some time, and each and every one has run it to suit themselves, and one of the morning papers has stated that the foot of a well-known gentleman was thrust into the wheels of the concern, thereby throwing the machinery entirely out of kelter. Now we know that this gentleman thinks too much of his pedal extremity to do any such a foolish act. The true reason for the non-fulfillment of the agreement for the present is that the different owners of steamers desiring that the line should be firmly established, have determined to do nothing further until January 1, 1875, as the season is now so near a close, and they will have all ready for a fair start at that time. On and after that date Anchors will rule the waters hence to New Orleans.—St. Louis Globe.

—A dispatch from Middleport says:—The contract between the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the Pomeroy Salt Transportation Company, which has been hanging for several months on account of some minor details, was finally entered into on Friday last, in Richmond, by General Wickham, for the road, and R. R. Hudson, Esq., for the Transportation Company. By it the Transportation Company is to do all the railroad's towing from Huntington to and from all points on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, west and south of Cincinnati.

—Jos. Graham, the Potomac's diver, is of great and varied service in this stretch of river. He no sooner got through with one job than he is called on to perform another. To-day he will begin the work of laying the main pipe of the Covington Water works in the river.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says:—The Fleetwing, leaving for Gallipolis to-day, has a colored man—Hiram Rice—for chief engineer. He is said to be one of the best engineers on the river, and has been with Captain Freese ten years.

—The Portsmouth and Huntington packet Fannie Dugan is laid up, and the Billy Collins has taken her place.

—The snag-boat De Russey has completed pulling obstructions above Cairo, and is now making toward Memphis.

—E. D. Hastings, rouster on the Thompson Dean is the only death reported at the Marine Hospital at Louisville, last month.

—The Belle of Texas is laid up at Memphis.

HOME NEWS.

Pomeroyal.

William S. Miller gave us, yesterday, specimens of the finest and largest quinces, we think, ever produced this side of the Pacific slope. They were raised on his farm, in Snowden township, this county, and average in weight one pound each. We doubt if this can be surpassed by any orchardist in the county.

Homeopathic Dispensary.

The number of prescriptions issued from this well known charitable institution, for the month just passed, was 885. There were 180 visits made by the physicians of the Dispensary staff to out-patients, and 705 visits were received at the Dispensary. A number of surgical cases presented themselves during the month, and were carefully treated. The Dispensary is open daily, except Sundays, between the hours of eleven and twelve A. M. and two to three P. M.

Pickpockets at Work.

The crowd attracted on Fifth avenue last evening when the election returns were being announced, presented a splendid opportunity for the light-fingered boys to play their vacation, knowing the time would be short, they got in their work early and were quite successful. Several pocketbooks, numerous watches, and one or two diamond pins, form part of their plunder. Mr. Keefe, of the Seventh ward, was among those who lost a valuable watch.

The Post Boys' Work.

Following is a report of the operations of the Pittsburgh Letter Carriers for the month of October:

Boarding Home for Working Women—Fourth Anniversary.

At this institution, situated at the corner of Anderson and Robinson street, Allegheny, will be held to-morrow (Thursday) evening, its fourth anniversary, when the customary supper will be served, it is hoped, this year, as last, to a large company of the friends and patrons of this noble charity, founded four years ago and managed ever since by ladies who, loving the work for the work's sake, have given their time and unselfish labors to the cause, and have earned the gratitude of many worthy women whose small wages had else proved inadequate for their maintenance, but who have, by the aid of this institution, been provided with a comfortable, well ordered and happy home. We promise those who will sup at the Home to-morrow evening that the supper, the anniversary exercises, the social intercourse, and the sight of the Home and its happy inmates, will give them pleasure and prompt them to give hearty and liberal support to this institution, kindred in its plans and purposes to that other most excellent charity, the Young Men's Home—the one under female, the other under male management. Let both be abundantly helped and upheld.

The Cases of Moorhead, Adams & Co. in the Supreme Court.

Yesterday afternoon the cases of Moorhead, Adams & Co. vs. Gilmore et al., were called up for argument in the Supreme Court. These suits are six in number, and were tried in the District Court of this county. Mr. Gilmore and several of the city banks purchased notes drawn by Moorhead, Adams & Co., and indorsed by Calvin Adams, and when the same fell due they were allowed to go to protest, the remaining members of the firm denying that they had ever made the notes or that Calvin Adams had the right to make or indorse any such notes. One of the cases tried resulted in favor of Moorhead & Co., but the remainder were decided against them and in favor of the plaintiffs below. The notes were generally negotiated by brokers, and in the Court below the defense set up was that not only had Calvin Adams no right to make or endorse notes, but that the purchasers of such notes had no right to buy them until they had inquired into their genuineness, it being a well-known fact that at the time of the issuing of the notes Moorhead & Co. had no notes upon the market.

The cases are to be argued separately and much interest is felt, as some of the best legal talent in the State will appear for the contending parties.

The argument was opened yesterday afternoon by R. B. Carnahan, Esq., who will in all probability be followed by Hon. Jeremiah Black.

BREVITIES.

····The latest journalistic rumor is to the effect that an evening German paper to be called the Schnauze, will soon appear.

····The water mains on Second avenue, from Hazlewood to the railroad crossing at Glenwood, are now supplied with water.

····The new German Evangelical church to be erected at the corner of Sixth and Smithfield streets, it is said, will not cost less than $100,000.

····The Anniversary Supper at the Boarding Home for working women, No. 33 Anderson street, Allegheny, will take place Thursday evening November 5. Supper from five to nine o'clock.

····An action of ejectment was commenced yesterday by John Alexander in the Common Pleas Court, against Bradley & Graham, for the possession of three lots of ground in the Thirty-sixth ward.

····Mr. E. N. Ladley, the agent for the society for prevention of cruelty to animals, is now operating on the South Side. He has already made a number of informations, and seems determined to accomplish his purpose.

····Early yesterday morning, the residence of Major J. B. Ramsey, at No. 154 Second avenue, caught fire, it is supposed by the explosion of a piece of slate in the grate, but it was extinguished before much damage was done.

····Rev. Dr. Hodge, of the Western Theological Seminary, will give at the University this morning at 9 o'clock, the lecture on "Modern Materialism," which was last week postponed, on account of his illness. The public are invited.

····The money drawer of Bitners' grocery store, on Carson street, South Side, was robbed of a few dollars in fractional currency, on Monday afternoon. A man named Adam Bush has been arrested as one of he parties and committed for trial.

····Fred. A. Ebberhart was arrested yesterday morning by officer Chambers on a charge of larceny preferred some time ago by A. D. Clark, foreman of Jones & Laughlin's store. He was taken before a magistrate, who held him to bail for a hearing to-morrow.

····A man and woman, supposed to be Mr. and Mrs. Hirsh, was assaulted by two ruffians on Bedford avenue, near the corner of Logan street, on Monday night. The husband was knocked down and severely beaten, but his wife escaped. No clue to the guilty parties.

····Sarah Boner was arrested yesterday and taken before Alderman Mercer, charged with aggravated assault and battery. It appears that Miss Flora Kirkland, who is a school teacher, found it necessary to punish one of Mrs. Boner's children, and that information of the fact being conveyed to the mother, she proceeded to the school house with a few lumps of coal in her hand, which she hurled at the teacher's head in rather a violent manner. The defendant was held to bail for trial at Court.

····On Saturday last a little daughter of Dr. Donelly, of Latrobe, Westmoreland county, died, it is supposed from, the effects of poison. On Friday the child was playing in the yard and found a small vial containing rat-bane, but was discovered almost immediately, and the phial taken from it. Its hands were washed off for fear the poison might be on them, and the mother was satisfied that it had taken none of it inwardly until the next morning, when the child became alarmingly ill and died in about an hour.

····A dispatch from Karns City to the Titusville Courier, of Monday, says: At three o'clock this afternoon a fire broke out in the St. Joe House. As soon as it was discovered every effort was made to stay the progress of the flames, but without avail. Gradually the flames crept over the town and now both sides of the street, from the St. Joe House to Russell's livery stable, have been reduced to ashes. The excitement incident to the calamity is beyond description, but nothing has been left undone to stay the disaster. At 6:45 P. M., the largest part of the town is destsoyed.

····There are about 775 hand puddling furnaces in this city, reckoning the double ones as equal to single ones. The average capacity of a single furnace is one ton per turn; but as the furnaces in the city are, taking them altogether, running about one and a fourth turn per day, their total daily product would be about 970 tons. Add to this the product of the six Danks furnaces at Graff, Bennett & Co.'s mill, which is equal to that of twenty-five single hand furnaces, and we have about 1,000 tons as the amount of iron now puddled daily in Pittsburg. The number of hand furnaces we have given will not vary five from the actual number.

Ladies Watches.

YESTERDAY'S BALLOTING.

A Serene and Peaceful Election.

Figuring on the Result in Allegheny County.

Republicanism and Democracy Dividing the Honors.

How the Battles Were Fought and the Victories Won.

Well, the election is over, and the result, so far as it concenrs our readers locally, will be found below. The event was unattended with any specially exciting circumstances, and the voting proceeded with as much calmness and peace as any that have ever marked our local annals. The day was a very favorable one for a full turnout of the people, as the atmospheric influences were such as to render a journey to the polls rather pleasant, and working around them not in any sense disagreeable. The polls generally were opened at seven o'clock with but little confusion, notwithstanding the changes in the districts, and there was delay in but one or two districts. By eight o'clock all the Election Boards had acquired the necessary serenity, benefitting an occasion of such moment—a time when the sovereign people were expressing their wishes in regard to the political situation. During the day the voting progressed without interruption, but so slowly that in most instances a little bit of a scrimmage would have been regarded as a specially desirable episode, to vary the monotonous weariness in hand, but a spirit of "peace on earth and good will to men" seemed to have set its impress upon the people, and the quiet of a summer evening generally prevailed.

There was, however, amid this general dullness, one characteristic of the voting that served to awaken a slight interest, and that feature was the very plainly developed itch for scratching which the voters exhibited. The feeling seemed to rage almost as an epidemic, and baffled the most assiduous efforts of the wisest and most experienced political doctors. One reason of the lack of success attending the efforts of the Esculapian politicians was the fact that the epidemic raged quietly, though none the less effectively, and it was oftimes difficult to tell whether the patient was in the first or last stages of the complaint, before all the damage had been done.

"How do you know?" said the writer to one who was lamenting the prevalence of the disease. "How do you know that it is so widespread?"

"Oh that's easy enough. When a fellow comes up, and takes a ballot from his pocket you know he's a goner; there've been many of them around here to-day. I could tell it by the glint of the eye."

And thus, by vest pocket ballots, and glint of the eye and sundry kindred signs, did coming events, to a very perceptible degree cast their shadows before. It was not surprising then that the result in many instances was closely anticipated long before the actual count had been officially announced; and it was with a pretty well defined feeling of certainty as to the result, that the people, from the force of old habit gathered at the usual headquarters, following the clearing of the polls, to hear the news.

In Pittsburgh, naturally folks drifted to that general reservoir of political knowledge,

The Lincoln Club Rooms,

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock last evening a GAZETTE reporter stationed himself at the Lincoln Club Rooms, that famous political headquarters, for the purpose of taking notes of the events transpiring there, and recording the news received from the two cities, the rural districts of the county and the State. Every arrangement had been made for registering the returns as fast as received and approximating the result. One corner of the room was partitioned off by a rough board fence, and within the enclosure were accommodations for reporters, and a large table to which was tacked an immense tally sheet, containing the names of all the candidates, and every election district in the county, with space for the registration of the vote. Men came in slowly enough, but not half so slow as the returns, concerning which the most intense interest was manifested. By half-past eight o'clock the room was filled and but two items of information had been received. One of them, and the first, too, was a dispatch from Bellevernon, Fayette county, announcing a Republican majority of forty-two in the borough, being a gain of eleven over last year. Charley Fetterman read the telegram aloud, when Assessor Phelps replied, "Why, Bellevernon ain't in Allegheny county." "What's the odds?" said a bystander, "it's a Republican gain anyhow," and that settled the matter.

The tardy receipt of news occasioned a great deal of comment, and surmises were liberally indulged in as to the cause of it, while manifestations of impatience were by no means infrequent. By nine o'clock the returns began to come in faster, and the crowd proportionately increased in size. An hour later and the longing of the spectators was satisfied for news, as it kept coming in rapidly, and was announced from within the enclosure. At no time during the night was any enthusiasm exhibited, but it was plain to be seen that the interest in the election was very great, and it was after one o'clock this morning before the Lincoln Club Rooms were closed and the men dispersed for their homes. Elsewhere will be found accurate returns from all the election districts it was possible to reach.

Young Men's Republican Club, Allegheny—Receiving the Returns—A Four Hour's Reception.

In Allegheny the duly recognized depository of political wisdom—is the Young Men's Republican Club headquarters, and thither Republicans and Democrats, Independents and those who hadn't enough independence to vote at all, wended their ways, so that by eight o'clock, an hour after the polls had closed, these headquarters were thronged with people and filled with a smoke, in which was intermingled in nauseating doses the fragrance of the aristocratic "ten center" and the humble and plebian "tofy." Col. Bayne held a quiet levee in one corner of the main audience room, while half a dozen of the younger members gracefully arranged themselves around, and upon the table, to which the returns were brought as they came in. There was not a superabundance of hilarity exhibited, and the first hour was principally whiled away in subdued conversation, that finally became animated when returns commenced to come in. As they were received and read, the balance was pretty well maintained until the borough of Bellevue with a very good majority for Colonel Bayne was read, and then a ringing and really inspiring cheer went up for the man who was so heartily "endorsed at home."

This evidence of a latent enthusiasm was repeated at intervals whenever a good majority was brought out, but as a general rule the people were rather too busy in "figuring" to waste any time and wind in explosive demonstrations. Gradually, as it became apparent that Bayne was coming out of the shadows and leading his opponent, the expressions of relief and pleasure were many and outspoken.

This excitement was kept up by an expert mathematician, who kept the aggregate, and announced at intervals of about half an hour the progress made by Colonel Bayne. Evidently, when it was certain that he led both his competitors, a spirit of jocularity for a brief season rested refreshingly upon the assemblage, and several well known adherents of other candidates were affectionately urged to make a few feeling remarks. Their feelings, however, overcame them, and they did not respond further than to manifest a decided inclination to waltz toward the door, and a well defined determination to disappear amid the shadows.

POINTS OF INTEREST.

Thus for a while interest was centered on the Congressional contest, but this was changed somewhat about eleven o'clock when the returns, in a legislative way, began to show things up, squally for certain of the Republican candidates. Attention was thus diverted to the Legislative fight, and the mathematicians began figuring it down to the fine points. The result was, eventually a conviction that a Democrat had made the landing, and that one of the Republican candidates would have to give place to a gentle and fragile Democratic Swan. The question then began to be of interest as to which candidate must arrange his business to stay at home, and the count of the votes seemed to indicate that the choice lay between Messrs. Gerwig and Long, with the chances a shadow in favor of the former. Graham, contrary to expectations, had led his ticket, and made his appearance shortly after eleven o'clock to receive the congratulations of his friends. This result was somewhat of a surprise, as he was known to be the temperance candidate, and though it was generally conceded that he would go through by a good majority, it was thought that the dead set made against him by the liquor interests would keep his majority down. His success was thus all the more complimentary—a worthy tribute to an eminently worthy gentleman. On the other hand there was considerable surprise expressed at the prospect for Mr. Long, who had generally been regarded as the strongest candidate on the list, and his many friends could not be convinced of him being behind until the returns had been counted over and over again. However, as there were yet several districts to hear from it was thought best, before making a final decision, to await the official returns.

In the meantime many inquiries had been made for the First ward, which had not yet come to hand, and as the interest in the Legislative fight had now increased, there was a general adjournment—the majority having in view a visit to the First ward polls to hurry up matters. It was half past twelve o'clock when the mathematicians folded away the result of their nights work and withdrew with the crowd leaving the headquarters as quiet as a cemetery, and in the care of the sable custodian.

The Prohibitionists Assemble at Their Headquarters at the Alliance Rooms—They Retire at an Early Hour.

While there was much interest felt in the result of the elections between the Republicans and Democrats the Prohibitionists met at their headquarters to await the returns. Of course, a fair representation of the crusaders were present, who seemed as much interested as those who had gone to the polls and voted. The demonstrations were not in the least boistrous, but on the contrary everything passed of quietly until the news began to come in. Having learned enough to know that their Congressional candidate, on the North Side had been defeated, together with nearly all the Prohibition ticket they closed their rooms about eleven o'clock and dispersed for their homes. It may be added that much disappointment was felt at the vote, as it was expected to have been much larger in favor of their candidates.

DEMOCRACY.

And where was Democracy all this time? Jubilatinh Democracy took a roseate view of the situation, and vibrated between their headquarters on Fifth avenue and the office of the Post. Democracy had absorbed considerable enthusiasm of various kinds, and candidate and henchman gave way to touching pathos and gushing congratulations. The chief bird keeper of the Post took a living survey of his barn yard, to see how many of the fowls were sound in wind and limb, and fit for public exhibition. But why enlarge upon the loveliness of the picture. Something must be left for the imagination of the reader, and we hasten on to conclude with which is as follows, so far as heard from

State Ticket.

The returns on the State ticket have only been received from 78 districts, principally city districts. These returns indicate that the Republican ticket is somewhat behind the majority rising about 1,000, but the rural districts will most probably make a great change.

Congressional.

From the Twenty-second District returns from 68 Districts have been received, which give the following result:

Negley	4,704
Hopkins	5,573

This leaves a majority of 769 for Hopkins. It is thought the remaining Districts will hardly alter the result.

In the Twenty-third District returns have been received from 29 districts, comprising principally Allegheny. The result is as follows:

Bayne	5,641
Cochran	2,442
Purviance	1,512

This gives Bayne a majority of 199 over Cochran, and a majority of 930 over Purviance. Bayne claims greatest strength in the districts to hear from, and it is generally conceded that Cochran has exhausted his strength in Allegheny. The election of Bayne, therefore, is conceded by a majority variously estimated at from 800 upwards.

Senatorial.

In the Forty-second District Mr. Hugh McNeill seems to have a very clear working majority. Twenty-nine Districts have been heard from, and these give him a handsome majority. He will pull through by a very complimentary vote.

The returns from fourteen precincts in the Forty-fourth Senatorial District, it appears that the Republican candidate, Mr. Newmeyer, is somewhat distanced by his opponent. The vote stands:

Routh	1,207
Newmeyer	1,088

leaving Routh 113 majority. The friends of Mr. Newmyer, however, claim that the returns from the other precincts will change the majority to the right side of the Republican ledger.

In the Forty-fifth District it is conceded that Hon. Miles Humphreys has been beaten by Dr. E. A. Wood, the Democratic candidate. The returns have not all been received, but those which have been sent in, give the general drift and indicate the election of Dr. Wood by a majority of at least 500.

Legislature.

In the First District, as will be seen by the returns elsewhere, the returns show the election of Messrs. Graham, Republican, Swan, Democrat, and Gerwig, Republican—the latter leading Mr. Long, Republican, 24 votes. There are still some Districts to hear from, but it is conceded they are not enough to oust the Democrat. Mr. Graham leads his ticket by a good majority.

In the Second District, from which pretty full returns have been received, the result shows the defeat of Messrs. Onslow and Jeremy. The result shows an average majority of 850.

In the Fourth District, from the returns received, the election of the Democratic candidates is conceded. The smallest majority is given at upwards of 500. Mr. Patterson leads the ticket on the Democratic side, and Mr. Wainwright on the Republican side. Patterson runs 549 ahead of Wainwright.

The County Ticket.

The county ticket is safe. There was but little scratching done here, and all the candidates will go through with handsome majorities.

THE OLDEN TIME.

An Old Number of the "Gazette."

Lewis Peterson, Jr., Esq., handed us a few days ago a copy of the GAZETTE of the the 20th of January, 1829, then published by D. & M. Maclean. This copy, compared with the mammoth sheet of to-day, appears very diminutive, being considerably less than half the size of the present GAZETTE. It may interest many of our older readers to refer briefly to the contents of this old sheet. We find, for instance, these advertisements: McClurg & King, Jobbing Dry Goods; Luke Loomis & Co., Bookseller; H. & A. P. Childs, Boots & Shoes; L. & P. Peterson, Leaden Pipes; Wm. Bell, Jr., Wholesale Dry Goods; George Miltenberger, Copper and Tinware Manufacturer; Samuel Baird & Co., Dry Goods; Henry Holdship, C. Oliphant, Iron Commission Merchant; Steel & Carlisle, Commission Merchants; Johnson & Stockton, Booksellers; Charles Shaler President and Francis McClure and James Riddle Associate Judges, subscribe a "notice to Jurors." Joseph Long and Samuel Elliott Blacksmiths, dissolved partnership; Oliver Ormsby, a stray cow; Breading & Taylor, Dry Goods; Walter Fortune & Son, Saddletree Makers; a number of Building Lots for sale by John Snyder; Samuel Robinson, Jeweler and Watch-Maker; Allen & Grant, Commission Merchants; Lamdius Museum, wants a boy; G. Buchanan, Commission Merchant; Brick and stone for sale by David Greer, Boyd's Hill; John Hannen & Son, Druggists, corner Market and Liberty; O'Leary, Bailey & Smith, Cut Glass and Watch Chrystal manufactory; James Ross, President of Select, and Alex. Johnson of Common Councils; Hamilton Stewart, Manufacturer of Cotton and Linen goods; James R. Lamdin, Portrait Painter; Lottery Tickets by Geo. A. Cook; James N. Dickson, Dry Goods; Eliakem Lilly, Fancy Goods; George Evans, Superintendent of Water Works; Bakewell, Page & Bakewells, Flint Glass Manufacturers; William Mitchell, Draper and Tailor; David P. Merritt, Dentist; Price, Curlings & Co., Fort Pitt Glass Works; John Irwin, Rope Manufacturer; Thos. G. Gaylord, Queensware, &c.; Caleb Lee, Draper and Tailor; Commissioners for the Pittsburgh & Coal Hill Turnpike Road Co., Wm. Wilkins, Henry Holdship, W. B. Foster, Peter Mowry, Wm. Porter, Wm. Arthurs, and James Brown; Lands in Leet's District and Elder's District for sale by Abishai or Nicholas Way. These and other names in the columns of this old GAZETTE were nearly all personally known to the writer and will be recognised by our older citizens as among the active and influential business men of forty years ago.—Very many of them have passed away and only two or three are now in business.

On the same sheet we find an instructive report by Civil Engineer Ed. F. Gay, on the practicability and cost of slackwatering the Ohio, to secure a minimum depth of 4½ feet from Stone's Island at the mouth of Beaver to Pittsburgh, in which it is proposed to erect four dams.

One at Neville Island to cost	$ 37,685
One at Wolrey's Trab Ripple to cost	31,210
One at Deadman's Ripple to cost	34,505
One at foot of Stone's Island to cost	38,650
	$143,050
Add 35 feet of lockage	56,000
Excavation below locks	2,130
	$201,180
Add 10 per cent	20,118
Total	$221,298

There is also a lengthy report from the same gentleman on the improvement of the Monongahela river by locks and dams. We cannot spare space for other extracts, of which many might be made, especially a characteristic "opinion" of Chief Justice Gibson in the noted case of Phillips vs. Ives, under the law of Wager, in which he dissented from the majority of the bench, to-wit: Justices Rogers, Huston and Tod. We may, however, reproduce this at another time. K.

THE COURTS.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

State Supreme Court.

(Chief Justice Agnew Presiding.)

ADMISSIONS.

Frederick Laty, Esq., on motion of T. C. Lazear, Esq., was duly admitted and qualified to practice in this Court.

ARGUMENTS.

Appeal of "Allegheny County Home" from the decree of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny county, on the petition of the Guardians of the Poor of the city of Pittsburgh. Argued by George P. Hamilton and Robert Woods, Esqs., for appellant, and J. I. Kuhn, Esq., for appellee.

There are three poor districts in Allegheny county—the Pittsburgh district, the Allegheny district and the county district. At the instance of the city of Pittsburgh the act of April 5th, 1867, was passed, whereby the borough of Lawrenceville and the townships of Pitt, Oakland, Collins, Liberty and Peebles were taken from Allegheny county and attached to the city of Pittsburgh. The "Allegheny County Home," it is complained, had not even the right to vote at the elections under the Act of Assembly. The city, subsequently, it is complained, procured the passage of the act of the 25th of May, 1871, to enable the city to obtain compensation for what they claimed was the share or interest of the borough and townships in the Farm and Poor House of the "Allegheny County Home," and under the act, it is complained, there is no provision that the viewers shall take into consideration the fact that the borough and townships yielded more tax in proportion than they furnish inmates to the Home. The county further represents that by the act the money goes to the city and not to the borough and townships, to enable them to pay their debts, which, under the Consolidation act, they still have to pay by separate taxation. The act is entitled "An Act providing for the equitable division of the property between Allegheny county and the city of Pittsburgh;" and the act, it is claimed, not only purports to provide for said subject, but provides for the city of Allegheny and the consolidated districts. This, it is claimed, is contrary to article 2d, section 8th, of the Constitution, and the question of the constitutionality of which was raised by exception in the Court below. The lower Court sustained the constitutionality of the act, and confirmed the report of the viewers, and the ruling in this behalf is assigned for error.

AN INSURANCE CASE.

The City Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, plaintiff in error and defendant below, vs. Sophia Zoller. Error to the Common Pleas of Allegheny county. Argued by M. W. Acheson, Esq., for plaintiff in error, and T. C. Lazear, Esq., contra. This was a suit brought in the Court below by Mrs. Zoller to recover the defendant's portion of a loss, amounting to $1,666.66, including interest. The Company claimed that the premium was not paid. Mrs. Zoller held that the premium was paid to one Crane, the Company's agent. The Company denied that Crane was their agent, and held that he could not be their agent under the provisions of the policy. The Court below ruled against the Insurance Company, and the verdict was returned in the favor of Mrs. Zoller, when exceptions were taken to the rulings of the Court in regard to the payment of the premium and regarding the regular service of proofs of loss. The property was insured in several companies.

A COAL CASE.

N. J. Bigley, plaintiff in error and defendant below, vs. Reed & Gilchrist, for use of J. M. Gilchrist, and John Bigley plaintiff in error and defendant below vs. same defendants (two cases). Argued by Large for plaintiff in error, and McClurg contra. These were errors to the District Court of Allegheny county, in the case of N. J. Bigley. Reed & Gilchrist recovered $1,476.35 in the Court below, being the price of 20,728 bushels of coal delivered to Bigley by Reed & Gilchrist. Bigley paid Reed, without notice of the dissolution of partnership. The circumstances of the case of John Bigley are similar to those in the one above.

Protestant Episcopal Convention.

NEW YORK, November 3.—The Protestant Episcopal General Convention held its closing session to-day. The Committee on Canons reported yesterday an amendment to Canon four with reference to the differences between ministers and their congregations, advocating the establishment of a Board of Reference to consider such controversy, empowered to recommend the terms of settlement, and if there was no hope of a favorable termination, the minister should be required to relinquish his connection with the church, and the Bishop should dissolve the connection between him and the congregation; and, if the latter refused to comply with this order, they should not be allowed representation in the Diocesan Convention until they had retracted their refusal.

In the discussion Rev. Dr. Adams, of Wisconsin, offered as an amendment that the report be recommitted to the committee, with instructions to report canon thirty-four of 1832.

The whole subject was deferred till the next General Convention, as not more than one-third of the delegates were present.

By request of the House of Bishops it was resolved to hold the closing exercises of the Convention at half-past seven this evening.

The report of the Committee on Canons on divorce was laid over until the next General Convention.

The Committee on Canons, to whom was referred the subject of posture in communion services, declined to take any action, and asked to be discharged from further consideration of the subject.

The report of the committee on measures to be taken on the abandonment of the Church by a Bishop or by a presbyter was adopted.

The joint committe appointed to consider the matter relative to the order of deaconesses reported that it was inexpedient at present to legislate upon the subject, and asked to be discharged. The report was adopted.

The report of the Committee on Canons in relation to changing the name of this body by striking out in the clauses where it occurred the words "House of Clerical and Lay Deputies," and inserting instead "House of Deputies." Adopted.

A committee was appointed to wait on the House of Bishops and inform them that the House of Deputies had finished the business before them, and were ready for any action from the House of Bishops with regard to adjournment.

A message from the House of Bishops recommending the appointment of a committee to take steps for the appointment of a joint commission to revise the Constitution of the Church, and report a plan for the construction and direction of the commission, was not concurred in by a vote of 48 to 45.

Trial of the Conspirators.

At the trial of the alleged safe burglary conspirators to-day, Buford Wilson, Solicitor of the Treasury, testified as to his investigation of the matter so far as the Treasury was interested in it. Witness obtained from Mr. Orton copies of telegrams bearing upon the case.

Question—Is there a rule in telegraph offices to allow the heads of departments to examine dispatches sent by their subordinates where the cost of the dispatches is charged to the departments?

Answer—I have no positive knowledge of such a rule, but such was my understanding, and on that hypothesis I made application to Mr. Orton, and he stated to me that the practice was to allow copies of Government telegrams to be taken, and he furnished them.

The remainder of the session to the recess was occupied in argument as to whether Mrs. Hayes be allowed to testify.

After the recess the Judge decided that Mrs. Hayes could not testify.

Several experts from the departments testified as to the genuineness of Whitely's signature to a telegram.

Terrible Election Riot in Eufala, Alabama.

EUFALA, Ala., November 3.—A riot occurred here at the polls to-day, in an attempt by a negro to whip another negro for voting the Democratic ticket. The assailant drew a pistol. The result was three negroes killed, four mortally, seven seriously, and eight slightly wounded; one white mortally, one seriously and three slightly wounded. Five or six hundred shots were fired.

Six whites were wounded, one of them, Wm. Keith, mortally. Three negroes were killed outright, and as far as heard from thirty-four were wounded, ten to fifteen mortally. Since the fight five have died, and three or four more will die during the night. Several whites went to the assistance of the negro who voted the Conservative ticket, when one of his assailants drew a pistol on the whites. In an instant a general fire from whites and blacks commenced, which the latter stood for a second or two, then gave way. There were probably 500 shots fired on both sides, the majority being by the whites. Negroes came in from the country, armed with pistols, heavy clubs, wheel spokes, &c., and were very aggressive upon those of their color who voted the Democratic ticket. For a few seconds after the firing ceased the negroes began to mass for a renewal of the fight, but seeing that the whites were arming to receive them, they again scattered, and quiet was restored.

PURE HONEY.
We are now engaged in putting up in Glass Packages a Perfectly Pure Article of Comb Honey.
We are regularly in receipt of supplies from California, Ohio, Virginia, and other points. We buy direct from the most reliable producers, and it is our intention to maintain the Standard of our Goods, so that our Name upon the Packages will be a guarantee to the consumer that they are really getting honey in its purity.
So much Adulterated and Impure Honey has heretofore been offered for sale that many persons think it an impossibility to procure a Pure Article unless they buy it in the original boxes, and in that way they have to pay as much per pound for the glass and wood composing the boxes for the honey, which makes it very expensive.
We put it up actual net weight in one, two and three pound packages, and in a short time it will be found for sale in all the principal Retail Groceries in this vicinity.
